- Unit 9.1 Reading

#	Question	Answer
1	Choose one new mode of communication and explain how it reduced the problem of geographic distance.	The cell phone is an example of this. A cell phone allowed one to communicate with people far away. Cell phones and mobile phones helped solve the problem of long-distance communication.
2	Choose one new mode of transportation and explain how it reduced the problem of geographic distance.	A mode of transportation that reduced geographic distance is the airplane. The airplane helped passengers travel from country to country hundreds of times faster than a boat or car.
3	Choose one new energy technology and explain how it raised productivity and the production of material goods.	Technological innovations allowed man to convert potential energy into usable energy which helped reduce our carbon footprint and also start converting to renewable energy instead of fossil fuels(non-renewable). An example is oils and natural gas made energy cleaner, and more renewable than wood and coal.
4	Explain the role of birth control in creating more opportunities for women in the 20th century.	The emergence of the women's rights movement of the 1960s and 1970s was significantly related to the availability of the pill and the control over fertility it enabled. This capability allowed women to make choices about other life arenas, especially work.
5	What was the Green Revolution?	A 20th-century attempt to increase food resources worldwide involved the use of fertilizers and pesticides and the development of disease-resistant crops.
6	Name two positive impacts of the Green Revolution.	The green revolution led to high productivity of crops through adapted measures, such as increased area under farming, double-cropping, which includes planting two crops rather than one, annually, adoption of HYV of seeds, highly increased use of inorganic fertilizers and pesticides,
