Game Theory and Minorities in American Literature Michael

Wainwright, 2017-03-07 This interdisciplinary monograph applies the theory of games of strategy or game theory to an important subset of American literature: minoritarian texts. Fittingly, John von Neumann's game theory as a mathematical subdiscipline practically abandoned by its founder after the publication of Zur Theorie der Gesellschaftsspiele 1928 but purposefully reengaged with on his permanent relocation to America in 1938 carries the minoritarian credentials of a Hungarian-born national of Jewish descent. The state of international politics in the late 1930s certainly contributed to von Neumann's renewed interest in his theory but a socioeconomic environment built on the legacy of slavery focused a reengagement with coordination problems that would last until his death. In these strategic situations, people must make choices in the knowledge that other people face the same options and that the outcome for each person will result from everybody's decisions. The four most frequently encountered coordination problems are the Stag Hunt, the Prisoner's Dilemma, Chicken, and Deadlock. Minoritarians find majoritarian attempts to control these social dilemmas particularly challenging. Hence, a game-theoretically inflected hermeneutic that identifies the logical, rational, and strategic state of human interrelations not only helps to categorize but also to analyze minoritarian texts. The authors under detailed consideration are Benjamin Franklin, Frederick Douglass, Harriet A. Jacobs, Zora Neale Hurston, William Faulkner, Toni Morrison, and Mohsin Hamid.

Reluctant Modernism George Cotkin, 2004-09-15 In the last two decades of the nineteenth century, Americans were faced with the challenges and uncertainties of a new era. The comfortable Victorian values of continuity, progress, and order clashed with the unsettling modern notions of constant change, relative truth, and chaos. Attempting to embrace the intellectual challenges of modernism, American thinkers of the day were yet reluctant to welcome the wholesale rejection of the past and destruction of traditional values. In Reluctant Modernism: American Thought and Culture 1880-1900, George Cotkin surveys the intellectual life of this crucial transitional period. His story begins with the Darwinian controversies since the mainstream of American culture was just beginning to come to grips with the implications of The Origins of Species, published in 1859. Cotkin demonstrates the effects of this shift in thinking on philosophy, anthropology, and the newly developing field of psychology. Drawing on his extensive knowledge of these fields, he explains clearly and concisely the essential tenets of such major thinkers and writers as William James, Franz Boas, Charlotte Perkins Gilman, Henry Adams, and Kate Chopin. Throughout this fascinating, readable history of the American fin de siècle, he runs the contrasting themes of continuity and change, faith and rationalism, despair over the meaninglessness of life, and ultimately a guarded optimism about the future.

MOHSIN HAMID'S THE RELUCTANT FUNDAMENTALIST KEREN. SHLEZINGER, 2015

Post-Orientalism and Contemporary American Novels Mousa Abu Haserah, 2023-08-09 This book provides a scientific and academic contribution to the scholarly exploration of the complex relationship between the East and the West in American literature. The study focuses on four novels: Mornings in Jenin, Falling Man, The Reluctant Fundamentalist, and Riyah Al Janna. The book discusses how the literature reflects on Middle Eastern themes in relation to the situations and conditions of the New East. It treats the Orient as a moving body and takes Edward Said's Orientalism into account, also showing Post Orientalism or the New East as a literary phenomenon in the 21st century specializing in politics, militarism, and post colonial ideology. The book explains and divides the Middle East into two parts: the Arab Islamic Middle East and the non Arab Islamic Middle East. It highlights the similarities and differences between these two parts as depicted in various novels, presenting the East as a land of desolation and destruction due to the political, regional, and religious changes that have shaken it.

Tabish Khair Cristina M. Gámez-Fernández, Om Prakash Dwivedi, 2014-03-17 This volume approaches Tabish Khair's writings both his theoretical proposals and his novels from numerous different perspectives. Contributors engage from varied critical stances with Khair's academic writings in a fruitful dialogue, analyze his social, political, and religious concerns, and elucidate his characteristics as a novelist and his literary powers. Furthermore, this volume is highly enriched by the presence of a hitherto unpublished play by Khair entitled The One Percent Agency, which focuses on a tourism agency specializing in bringing Bollywood style Indian weddings to foreign tourists. In the process, it becomes a satirical commentary on the packaging of international tourism as well as the ability of common Indians to adapt and thrive. It depicts the metropolitan India of the new millennium and inter community relations in subtle and powerful ways.

The Midrashic Impulse and the Contemporary Literary Response to Trauma Monica Osborne, 2017-12-06 Since the end of World War II, we have witnessed countless artistic responses to the Holocaust, yet we remain unable to adequately address the atrocities. While Theodor Adorno later rescinded his comments on the barbaric nature of writing poetry after Auschwitz, The Midrashic Impulse and the Contemporary Literary Response to Trauma begins with the possibility that he was right: that his admonition against poetry warns against employing representational modes that transgress the boundaries of the ethical when it comes to the Holocaust. There is a language other than the language of representation with which we might speak authentically about such atrocities. This study explores what it means for the world of literature to renounce the language of representation and retain the language of witness. Drawing on the work of Emmanuel, Levinas, Maurice Blanchot, Geoffrey Hartman, and others, the book focuses on the increasing tendency of contemporary writers to rely on non representational approaches to storytelling in the context of trauma. This tendency is named the midrashic impulse, given its similarity to ancient rabbinic approaches to the silences of the Hebrew Bible through the creation of Midrash.

Literature of the Global Age Maurizio Ascari, 2014-01-10 In an age of world citizenship, literary scholarship is focusing increasingly on texts which communicate effectively over cultural lines. Advocating a planetary approach to contemporary literature, this critical text examines eight novels from eight cultures The writers discussed are Julian Barnes Magda Szabo Abraham B Yehoshua Ian McEwan W G Sebald Murakami Haruki Jonathan Safran Foer and Azar Nafisi Focusing on the authors encouragement to meditate on life s most pressing issues the essays here invite us to reevaluate postmodernism as a current category Neap Tony Thompson,2010 Catalog of Copyright Entries. Third Series Library of Congress. Copyright Office,1976 Genetic Criticism and the Creative Process William Kinderman,Joseph E. Jones,2009 Studies of the genesis of musical literary and theatrical works Not only the final outcome but the process of creative endeavor has long attracted attention in various artistic disciplines but only recently has the potential of such research been seriously explored The most rigorous basis for the study of artistic creativity comes not from anecdotal or autobiographical reports but from original handwritten sketches and drafts and preliminary studies as well as from revised manuscripts and typescripts corrected proof sheets and similar primary sources The term genetic criticism or critique g n tique relates not to the field of genetics but to the genesis of works of art as studied in a broad and inclusive context The essays inthis volume explore aspects of genetic criticism in an interdisciplinary context emphasizing music literature and theater A common thread pertains to the essential continuity between a work and its genesis This volume bringstogether essays from leading scholars on subjects ranging from biblical scholarship to Samuel Beckett and from Beethoven s Eroica Symphony to very recent musical compositions Contributors Nicolas Donin Daniel Ferrer Alan Gosman R B Graves Joseph E Jones William Kinderman Jean Louis Lebrave Lewis Lockwood Geert Lernout Peter McCallum Armine Kotin Mortimer and James L Zychowicz William Kinderman is Professor of Musicology at the University of Illinois at Urbana Champaign Joseph E Jones is visiting Assistant Professor of Musicology at the University of Illinois at Urbana Champaign Polygamy, Women, and Higher Education Laura Parson,2018-12-18 This volume explores the life stories of women who were former members of Mormon fundamentalist polygamous societies from their own perspectives to seek insight into their readiness for higher education settings In order to support all learners in higher education it is important to understand the unique needs of women students who have non traditional formal schooling experiences and or have come from restrictive or patriarchal cultures This book helps further the discourse by providing recommendations for inclusive programs that consider how to develop elements of self concept empowerment and motivation necessary for higher education success academically and beyond Darwin's Forgotten Defenders David N. Livingstone,1997 This book is the first systematic investigation of the response of evangelical intellectuals in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries to Darwin s evolutionary theories Despite evidence to the contrary many people continue to believe that warfare between science and religion over the issue of evolution broke out as soon as Darwin published The Origin of the Species in 1859 In fact as David Livingstone points out a substantial number of that era s leaders in science and technology had little trouble reconciling their conservative theological views to Darwin s new theories The author contends that the sort of pitched battle being waged by the creationist movement today has its roots not in the evangelical heritage of the nineteenth century but in the fundamentalism that emerged during the early decades of the twentieth century This study which sheds new light on previously neglected aspects of the Darwinian controversies should have appeal for all who are interested in the relationship between science and religion from back cover
