advice is conveyed through anecdotes and case studies featuring real applicant stories based on the authors years of experience running an education consulting practice for students and families living outside the US Engines of Anxiety Wendy Nelson Espeland, Michael Sauder, Wendy Espeland, 2016-05-09 Students and the public routinely consult various published college rankings to assess the quality of colleges and universities and easily compare different schools However many institutions have responded to the rankings in ways that benefit neither the schools nor their students In Engines of Anxiety sociologists Wendy Espeland and Michael Sauder delve deep into the mechanisms of law school rankings which have become a top priority within legal education Based on a wealth of observational data and over 200 in depth interviews with law students university deans and other administrators they show how the scramble for high rankings has affected the missions and practices of many law schools Engines of Anxiety tracks how rankings such as those published annually by the U S News World Report permeate every aspect of legal education beginning with the admissions process The authors find that prospective law students not only rely heavily on such rankings to evaluate school quality but also internalize rankings as expressions of their own abilities and flaws For example they often view rejections from first tier schools as a sign of personal failure The rankings also affect the decisions of admissions officers who try to balance admitting diverse classes with preserving the school s ranking which is dependent on factors such as the median LSAT score of the entering class Espeland and Sauder find that law schools face pressure to admit applicants with high test scores over lower scoring candidates who possess other favorable credentials Engines of Anxiety also reveals how rankings have influenced law schools career service departments Because graduates job placements play a major role in the rankings many institutions have shifted their career services resources toward tracking placements and away from counseling and network building In turn law firms regularly use school rankings to recruit and screen job candidates perpetuating a cycle in which highly ranked schools enjoy increasing prestige As a result the rankings create and reinforce a rigid hierarchy that penalizes lower tier schools that do not conform to the restrictive standards used in the rankings The authors show that as law schools compete to improve their rankings their programs become more homogenized and less accessible to non traditional students The ranking system is considered a valuable resource for learning about more than 200 law schools Yet Engines of Anxiety shows that the drive to increase a school s rankings has negative consequences for students educators and administrators and has implications for all educational programs that are quantified in similar ways Young British African and Caribbean Men Achieving Educational Success Cecile Wright, Uvanney Maylor, Thomas Pickup, 2020-10-04 In contrast to research that focuses on the underperformance of young Black males in the British education system the dominant notion of this volume is educational success By aiming to understand how young Black notably African and Caribbean male education plays out in different educational spaces this book provides new insights around intersections between and across different structural forces and educational contexts Examining the political cultural and structural factors that shape the educational journey of young Black men in the British education system the book will cover topics such as Race gender and class and the attainment gap Contextualising Black men s educational narratives The role of family and parenting in achieving success The role of community resource in achieving success Young British African and Caribbean Men Achieving Educational Success will be of interest to researchers academics and postgraduate students in the fields of multicultural education and gender and sexuality in education as well as educators concerned with how Black male masculinities play out in educational discourses Cecile Wright is Professor in the School of Sociology and Social Work University of Nottingham UK Uvanney Maylor is Professor of Education in the Institute for Research in Education at the University of Bedfordshire UK Thomas Pickup is a Principal Policy and Project Officer in local government in the UK

The Palgrave Handbook of Asia Pacific Higher Education Christopher S. Collins, Molly N.N. Lee, John N. Hawkins, Deane E. Neubauer, 2016-10-06 This volume seeks to identify and explore the forces affecting higher education in the Asia Pacific region today It includes a set of conceptually rich organizing chapters followed by detailed country specific studies that detail both the underlying dynamics of these forces and the manner in which they have affected specific countries In this way the chapters touch on the complex demographics of the region how continued and continuous economic development impinges on higher education and how neoliberalism has affected higher education across many dimensions The volume also addresses the complex issues associated with cross border education and the daunting challenges of both national and cross national quality assurance

The Humanities in Contemporary Chinese Contexts Evelyn T. Y. Chan, Michael O'Sullivan, 2016-10-22 This book brings together the perspectives of eminent and emerging scholars on contemporary issues relevant to the practice pedagogy and institutionalization of the humanities in the three Chinese contexts of Hong Kong Taiwan and mainland China It addresses the need to investigate how humanities discussions often exclusively drawn from and grounded in western contexts are today being played out in these three places The humanities in contemporary Chinese contexts may have different social and pedagogical roles and a consideration of them will enable people to moderate and perhaps even refute claims made in the recent re readings of the humanities As Asian universities rise in the global rankings and as east west university collaborations and partnerships become more common it is important that the nature practice and institutionalization of the humanities in Hong Kong Taiwan and mainland China are explored and described for English readers Exploring new perspectives arising from an examination of the humanities in these places this volume aims neither to establish a position of polarity which would pit western sites against Chinese ones nor to argue for universal sameness Rather the goal is to find nuanced correspondences and differences between these various backgrounds so that there is a greater understanding of the specificities of Chinese contexts This will help shed light not only on the contexts in question but also potentially on how to rearticulate the importance of the humanities in general creating an intercultural dialogue focused on the humanities As the global university strives to move the different traditions of learning closer together through international rankings rubrics and shared research agendas it is important that we explore these locations of potential cultural exchange Little Platoons Matt Feeney, 2021-03-09 This eye opening book brilliantly explores the true roots of over parenting and makes a case for the vital importance of family life Parents naturally worry about the future They want to prepare their children to compete in an uncertain world But often argues political philosopher and father of three Matt Feeney today s worried parents surrender their family s autonomy to gain a leg up in this competition In the American ideal family life is a sacred and private sphere distinct from the outside world But in our hypercompetitive times Feeney shows parents have become increasingly willing to let the inner life of the family be colonized by outside forces that promise better futures for their kids prestigious preschools educational technologies youth sports leagues a multitude of enrichment activities and most of all college A provocative eye opening book for any parent who suspects their kids stuffed schedules are not serving their best interests Little Platoons calls us to rediscover the distinctive profound solidarity of family life Medical School from High School A. University Intake 2015: Bestsellers in 2023 The year 2023 has witnessed a remarkable surge in literary brilliance, with numerous engrossing novels captivating the hearts of readers worldwide. Lets delve into the realm of bestselling books, exploring the fascinating narratives that have charmed audiences this year. University Intake 2015 : Colleen Hoover's "It Ends with Us" This touching tale of love, loss, and resilience has captivated readers with its raw and emotional exploration of domestic abuse. Hoover expertly weaves a story of hope and healing, reminding us that even in the darkest of times, the human spirit can triumph. Uncover the Best : Taylor Jenkins Reid's "The Seven Husbands of Evelyn Hugo" This captivating historical fiction novel unravels the life of Evelyn Hugo, a Hollywood icon who defies expectations and societal norms to pursue her dreams. Reid's compelling storytelling and compelling characters transport readers to a bygone era, immersing them in a world of glamour, ambition, and self-discovery. Discover the Magic : Delia Owens' "Where the Crawdads Sing" This mesmerizing coming-of-age story follows Kya Clark, a young woman who grows up alone in the marshes of North Carolina. Owens spins a tale of resilience, survival, and the transformative power of nature, entrancing readers with its evocative prose and mesmerizing setting. These popular novels represent just a fraction of the literary treasures that have emerged in 2023. Whether you seek tales of romance, adventure, or personal growth, the world of literature offers an abundance of engaging stories waiting to be discovered. The novel begins with Richard Papen, a bright but troubled young man, arriving at Hampden College. Richard is immediately drawn to the group of students who call themselves the Classics Club. The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a brilliant and suspenseful novel that will keep you wondering until the very end. The novel is a warning tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
