Architecture, State Modernism and Cultural Nationalism in the Apartheid Capital Hilton Judin, 2021-04-08 This book is the first comprehensive investigation of the architecture of the apartheid state in the period of rapid economic growth and political repression from 1957 to 1966 when buildings took on an ideological role that was never remote from the increasingly dominant administrative legislative and policing mechanisms of the regime It considers how this process reflected the usurpation of a regional modernism and looks to contribute to wider discourses on international postwar modernism in architecture Buildings in Pretoria that came to embody ambitions of the apartheid state for industrialisation and progress serve as case studies These were widely acclaimed projects that embodied for apartheid officials the pursuit of modernisation but carried latent apprehensions of Afrikaners about their growing economic prospects and cultural estrangement in Africa It is a less known and marginal story due to the dearth of material and documents buried in archives and untranslated documents Many of the documents drawings and photographs in the book are unpublished and include classified material and photographs from the National Nuclear Research Centre negatives of 1960s from Pretoria News and documents and pamphlets from Afrikaner Broederbond archives State architecture became the most iconic public manifestation of an evolving expression of white cultural identity as a new generation of architects in Pretoria took up the challenge of finding form to their prospects and beliefs It was an opportunistic faith in Afrikaners who urgently needed to entrench their vulnerable and contested position on the African continent The shift from provincial town to apartheid capital was swift and relentless Little was left to stand in the way of the ambitions and aim of the state as people were uprooted and forcibly relocated structures torn down and block upon block of administration towers and slabs erected across Pretoria This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of architectural history as well as those with an interest in postcolonial studies political science and social anthropology Postgraduate Study in South Africa Liezel Frick, Puleng Motshoane, Christopher McMaster, 2016-11-21 The book explores concerns about the lack of higher education transformation around issues of equity curriculum reform language and race and how students navigate higher education complexities Students self reflective abilities creativity and pragmatic approaches to surviving and succeeding are indicators that postgraduate student success is as much internally as externally determined Each chapter speaks from a uniquely South African perspective The editors have tried to remain true to the voice of each contributor while simultaneously providing a coherent body of scholarly work Your History with Me Sarah Nuttall, 2024-07-12 The critics scholars curators artists and filmmakers in this volume examine the films of Penny Siopis showing how they remake the possibility of film as a mode of experimentation and intervention Innovative Methods for Applied Drama and Theatre Practice in African Contexts Hazel Barnes, Carol Beck Carter, Warren Nebe, 2022-01-27 This book based on components of Drama for Life addresses the subject of innovative methods for applied drama and theatre practice in African contexts It does so by providing chapters that share the rich multilayered and reflexive work that has taken place at Drama for Life from 2008 to the present day It invites the reader to learn from the experiences of Drama for Life as shared by the authors understand the role it has played and continues to play in advocating for and extending the work of Applied Drama and Theatre practice and engage in critical dialogical spaces to examine and interrogate current debates and practices in the field of Applied Drama and Theatre The volume is invaluable for anyone interested in the extensive body of work generated by Drama for Life and its innovative approaches to learning and teaching as well as performing arts practitioners artists teachers people in community development and service work and anyone involved in researching Applied Drama and Theatre practice particularly in an African context but also globally

Achieving Access Joseph Harris, 2017-09-15 At a time when the world's wealthiest nations struggle to make health care and medicine available to everyone why do resource constrained countries make costly commitments to universal health coverage and AIDS treatment after transitioning to democracy Joseph Harris explores the dynamics that made landmark policies possible in Thailand and Brazil but which have led to prolonged struggle and contestation in South Africa Drawing on firsthand accounts of the people wrestling with these issues Achieving Access documents efforts to institutionalize universal healthcare and expand access to life saving medicines in three major industrializing countries In comparing two separate but related policy areas Harris finds that democratization empowers elite professionals such as doctors and lawyers to advocate for universal health care and treatment for AIDS Harris's analysis is situated at the intersection of sociology political science and public health and will speak to scholars with interests in health policy comparative politics social policy and democracy in the developing world In light of the growing interest in health insurance generated by implementation of the Affordable Care Act as well as the coming changes poised to be made to it Achieving Access will also be useful to policymakers in developing countries and officials working on health policy in the United States

Towards a New Anthropology of the Embodied Mind: Maine de Biran's Physio-Spiritualism from 1800 to the 21st Century, 2023-11-13 This exploration in the history of ideas examines the groundbreaking notion of the embodied mind in its analysis by the French philosopher and politician Maine de Biran 1766 1824 and in its afterlife consciousness is generated through frequent interaction between the voluntary and the spiritual The conscious active self is constituted in its sovereign autonomy as free and undivided by an inner act of willful resistance a physical effort towards its own body and the world For the first time a multidisciplinary group of senior and junior researchers from Japan USA and Europe investigate origins and discursive cross fertilization of this concept around 1800 an intermediary stage between 1870 and 1945 and its influence upon existentialism phenomenology and deconstructivism during the postwar period and beyond from 1943 to 2010

Nation Branding and International Politics Christopher S. Browning, 2023-10-15 Nation branding is regarded as essential for competitiveness among countries but the idea of branding nations is often derided as lacking seriousness While nation branding has been on the radar of scholars of marketing communication and media studies as well as political geography for decades it has only made a small dent into the international relations field In Nation Branding and International Politics Christopher Browning argues that international relations should take nation branding seriously Nation branding not only involves the issues of culture identity and status which are of principal concern to IR but it is also a different and potentially fruitful way of reconceptualizing statehood Mobilizing work on ontological security anxiety status and distinction and grounding the analysis in a broader historical context Browning finds that nation branding is politically significant though not necessarily for the reasons its advocates claim Specifically the book raises important questions about nation branding s influence on the constitution of national identity the reframing of citizenship and the topography of contemporary geopolitics Nation Branding and International Politics considers how status prestige and reputation are constructed and maintained in international society and how perhaps this construction and maintenance may be changing just as the practice of nation branding is changing

After Caliban Erica Moiah James, 2025-08-01 Drawing on Aim C saire s rewriting of Shakespeare s The Tempest Erica Moiah James examines the rise of global Caribbean artists in the 1990s and their production of a decolonized art history for the Caribbean

Approaches to Commemorative Public Art Brenda Schmahmann, 2025-06-12 In this collection a diverse range of international contributors examine commemorative monuments from the late twentieth and twenty first centuries The book reveals how those monuments enable new perspectives and understanding of histories as well as a heightened involvement of viewers through not simply their subject matter but also most crucially their actual form and design While some contributors explore new approaches to the art of commemoration that artists and designers have deployed in recent monuments others examine how artists have undertaken creative engagements with historical statuary and sites using these interventions to offer critique and commentary Additionally the contributions consider the impact of political change on ways in which an inherited commemorative landscape is interpreted and negotiated Questions considered by the contributions include How might new monuments be shaped and how might they function differently from those of the past Is there a place for portraiture in the contemporary commemorative landscape Should commemorative monuments be envisaged as permanent fixtures or are temporary approaches more viable How effectively have artists disrupted the meanings of historical monuments and sites through installation performance video and other media How has political change played out at historical sites affecting how commemorative monuments from prior dispensations are understood in the 2020s This collection will be of value to researchers in Art History Visual Studies and Heritage Studies as well as scholars in all disciplines and fields who are interested in public art public memory and the politics of commemoration Somalis Abroad

, 2017-05-12 Drawing on a wealth of ethnographic detail Stephanie Bjork offers the first study on the messy role of clan or tribe in the Somali diaspora and the only study on the subject to include women s perspectives Somalis Abroad illuminates the ways clan is contested alongside ideas of autonomy and gender equality challenged by affinities towards others with similar migration experiences transformed because of geographical separation from family members and leveraged by individuals for cultural capital Challenging prevailing views in the field Bjork argues that clan informed practices influence everything from asylum decisions to managing money The practices also become a pattern that structures important relationships via constant and unwitting effort Quilt Arts of South Africa Marsha MacDowell, 2025 In the southernmost region of the African continent women have been piecing together materials textile construction techniques commonly used in quilting to create bed coverings throughout the history of the San and Khoi peoples From the late seventeenth century through the early nineteenth century an influx of Dutch French Indian and British military personnel traders miners and missionaries came to South Africa bringing with them their own cultural traditions including making and using quilts Today the making of quilts in South Africa is flourishing Quilt Arts of South Africa stitches together the history production and significance of quilt making from its earliest appearance in the continent's southernmost region to the twenty first century. With input from curators, linguists, art historians, activist artists, and folklorists, this book presents disparate yet connected inquiries into a wide-ranging history of the quilt. These perspectives connect a rich expressive art to place, showing how the quilting traditions in South Africa together reflect a unique cultural history and natural landscape. Itself pieced together from diverse voices, Quilt Arts of South Africa offers glimpses into the histories and meanings of quilting in South Africa.
