Univen Top Students 2014:

The Sustainability Ethic in the Management of the Physical, Infrastructural and Natural Resources of Zimbabwe Chirisa, Innocent, 2019-05-27 Humanity has extensively exploited natural and physical resources since the Industrial Revolution in Europe A geological era now called the Anthropocene has been coined in environmental and developmental circles to mark the increased domination of humanity on Earth and its resources Today the ecological footprint on the fragile planet continues to increase Mass industrialisation like what China is doing and pushing for is one of the drivers for increased urbanisation that results in increased demand for land It is also the stimulus behind increased deforestation overfishing and pollution As the fragility of the Earth increases global bodies like the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change are pushing to reduce the Earth's temperature Human efforts to manage the problem cascade from a global to a regional to a national as well as to much localised scales Missing though are nuanced contributions at national and community levels which this book is an attempt to bridge The nagging sense of responsibility is what this book explores under the label of sustainability ethic As a case study the book examines the use of sustainability ethic in the management of the physical infrastructural and natural resources of Zimbabwe This ethic is built on pillars that include participation of people households in their pursuit for sustainable livelihoods appropriate technology tools and techniques for environmental protection It also hinges on stewardship and structures institutions policies and processes of governance and sustainability There are also the aspects of ethics laws and indigenous technical knowledge for sustainability capacity building and education plans and programmes for sustainability and population and demographic determinants processes and outcomes for sustainability The book is a timely contribution to an urgent global concern and climate change debate Dun's Latin America's Top 25,000, 1992
