Surging Democracy Adriana Cavarero, 2021-08-31 What does a truly democratic experience of political action look like today In this provocative new work Adriana Cavarero weighs in on contemporary debates about the relationship between democracy happiness and dissent Drawing on Arendt s understanding of politics as a participatory experience but also discussing texts by mile Zola Elias Canetti Boris Pasternak and Roland Barthes along with engaging Judith Butler Cavarero proposes a new view of democracy based not on violence but rather on the spontaneous experience of a plurality of bodies coming together in public Expanding on the themes explored in previous works Cavarero offers a timely intervention into current thinking about the nature of democracy suggesting that its emergence thrives on the nonviolent creativity of a widespread participatory and relational power that is shared horizontally rather than vertically From digital democracy to selfies to contemporary protest movements Cavarero argues that we need to rethink our focus on individual happiness and turn toward rediscovering the joyful emotions of birth through plural interaction Yes let us be happy she urges but let us do so publicly politically together

Inventing Americans in the Age of Discovery Michael Householder, 2016-05-06 Inventing Americans in the Age of Discovery traces the linguistic rhetorical and literary innovations that emerged out of the first encounters between Europeans and indigenous peoples of the Americas Through analysis of six texts Michael Householder demonstrates the role of language in forming the identities or characters that permitted Europeans English speakers primarily to adapt to the unusual circumstances of encounter Arranged chronologically the texts examined include John Mandeville s Travels Richard Eden s English language translations of the accounts of Spanish and Portuguese discovery and conquest George Best s account of Martin Frobisher s voyages to northern Canada Ralph Lane s account of the abandonment of Roanoke John Smith s writings about Virginia and John Underhill s account of the Pequot War Through his analysis Householder reveals that

Raab, 2020-05-31 The Humanities in Transition explores how the basic components of the digital age will have an impact on the most trusted theories of humanists. Over the past two generations, humanists have come to take basic postmodern theories for granted, whether on language, knowledge, or time. Yet Michel Foucault, Jacques Derrida, and similar philosophers developed their ideas when the impact of this digital world could barely be imagined. The digital world, built on algorithms and massive amounts of data, operates on radically different principles. This volume analyzes these differences, demonstrating where an aging postmodernism cannot keep pace with today's technologies. The book first introduces the major influence postmodernism had on global thought, before turning to algorithms, digital space, digital time, data, visuals, and the concept of digital forgeries. By taking a closer look at these themes, it establishes a platform to create more robust humanist theories for the third millennium. This book will appeal to graduate students and established scholars in the Digital Humanities who are looking for diverse and energetic theoretical approaches that can truly come to terms with the digital world. Conflict and
