Fictive questions in the Zhuangzi Mingjian Xiang, 2023-05-15 Rhetoric is intimately related to interaction and cognition This book explores the cognitive underpinnings of rhetoric by presenting a case study of the rhetorical use of interactional structures namely expository questions and rhetorical questions in the classical Chinese tradition Such questions are generally meant to evoke silent answers in the addressee's mind thereby involving a fictive type of interaction The book analyzes fictive questions as intersubjective mixed viewpoint constructions involving a viewpoint blend of the perspectives of the writer the assumed prospective readers and possibly also that of the discourse characters The analysis further shows that in addition to attention other late developing human capacities such as mental simulation and perspective taking also have a pivotal role to play in rhetoric on the basis of which a simulation based rhetorical model of persuasion is proposed to account for meaning construction in rhetorical practices The book will influence our understanding of rhetorical practices outside the Western tradition but within the framework of cognitive semantics The String Quartets of Béla Bartók Dániel Péter Biró, Harald Krebs, 2014-04-25 Béla Bartók 1881-1945 was one of the most important composers and musical thinkers of the 20th century. His contributions as a composer, as a performer, and as the father of ethnomusicology changed the course of music history and of our contemporary perception of music itself. At the center of Bartók's oeuvre are his string quartets, which are generally acknowledged as some of the most significant pieces of 20th-century chamber music. The String Quartets of Béla Bartók brings together innovative new scholarship from 14 internationally recognized music theorists, musicologists, performers, and composers to focus on these remarkable works from a range of theoretical and methodological perspectives. Focusing on a variety of aspects of the string quartets: harmony and tonality, form, rhythm, and meter, performance, and listening, it considers both the imprint of folk and classical traditions on Bartók's string quartets and the ways in which they influenced works of the next generation of Hungarian composers. Rich withnotated music examples, the volume is complemented by an Oxford Web Music companion website offering additional notated as well as recorded examples. The String Quartets of Béla Bartók reflecting the impact of the composer himself is an essential resource for scholars and students across a variety of fields from music theory and musicology to performance practice and ethnomusicology.

Communication Dr. Ananta Geetey Uppal, Building a Writing Community Marcia Sheehan Freeman, 1995 Explains how to create the philosophical and physical environment needed to develop successful writing communities in which students learn practice and apply writing craft skills. Eunuchus Terence, 1999-02-04 Terence's Eunuchus The Eunuch was his most successful play in his lifetime but has been surprisingly neglected by modern commentators. In this first ever full-scale commentary in English, Professor Barsby provides a thorough examination of the play in terms of its literary and dramatic qualities, its staging, and its relationship to the two plays of Menander's on which it is based. The commentary includes scene-by-scene discussions which bring out the development of character and plot, and the notes offer a close study of Terence's language in comparison with that of his predecessor Plautus. A full introduction puts Terence in his historical and literary context, and there are two appendices: one on metre and the other giving text and translation of the remains of Menander's Eunouchos and Kolax. Sartre on the Body K. Morris, 2009-12-09 Sartre scholars and others engage with Jean-Paul Sartre's descriptions of the human body, bringing him into dialogue with feminists, sociologists, psychologists, and historians, and asking: What is pain?
