are you a fish? If yes, I think it's a great name. If you are a human, I would discourage it.

Reading will encourage deeper research Cross-Language Relations in Composition Bruce Horner,Min-Zhan Lu,Paul Kei Matsuda,2010-05-09 Cross Language Relations in Composition brings together the foremost scholars in the fields of composition second language writing education and literacy studies to address the limitations of the tacit English only policy prevalent in composition pedagogy and research and to suggest changes for the benefit of writing students and instructors throughout the United States Recognizing the growing linguistic diversity of students and faculty the ongoing changes in the English language as a result of globalization and the increasingly blurred categories of native foreign and second language English speakers editors Bruce Horner Min Zhan Lu and Paul Kei Matsuda have compiled a groundbreaking anthology of essays that contest the dominance of English monolingualism in the study and teaching of composition and encourage the pursuit of approaches that embrace multilingualism and cross language writing as the norm for teaching and research The nine chapters comprising part 1 of the collection focus on the origins of the English only bias dominating U S composition classes and present alternative methods of teaching and research that challenge this monolingualism In part 2 nine composition teachers and scholars representing a variety of theoretical institutional and professional perspectives propose new compelling and concrete ways to understand and teach composition to students of a global plural English a language evolving in a multilingual world Drawing on recent theoretical work on genre complexity performance and identity as well as postcolonialism Cross Language Relations in Composition offers a radically new approach to composition teaching and research one that will prove invaluable to all who teach writing in today s multilingual college classroom Masters of Mathematics Robert A. Nowlan,2017-05-13 The original title for this work was Mathematical Literacy What Is It and Why You Need it The current title reflects that there can be no real learning in any subject unless questions of who what when where why and how are raised in the minds of the learners The book is not a mathematical text and there are no assigned exercises or exams It is written for reasonably intelligent and curious individuals both those who value mathematics aware of its many important applications and others who have been inappropriately exposed to mathematics leading to indifference to the subject fear and even loathing These feelings are all consequences of meaningless presentations drill rote learning and being lost as the purpose of what is being studied Mathematics education needs a radical reform There is more than one way to accomplish this Here the author presents his approach of wrapping mathematical ideas in a story To learn one first must develop an interest in a problem and the curiosity to find how masters of mathematics have solved them What is necessary to be mathematically literate It s not about solving algebraic equations or even making a geometric proof These are valuable skills but not evidence of literacy We often seek answers but learning to ask pertinent questions is the road to mathematical literacy Here is the good news new mathematical ideas have a way of finding applications This is known as the unreasonable effectiveness of mathematics
