Urban Governance Voice And Poverty In The Developing World:

Urban Governance Voice and Poverty in the Developing World Nick Devas, 2014-10-14 Poverty and governance are both issues high on the agenda of international agencies and governments in the South With urban areas accounting for a steadily growing share of the world's poor people an international team of researchers focused their attention on the hitherto little studied relationship between urban governance and urban poverty In their timely and in depth examination of ten cities in Africa Asia and Latin America they demonstrate that in many countries the global trends towards decentralization and democratization offer new opportunities for the poor to have an influence on the decisions that affect them They also show how that influence depends on the nature of those democratic arrangements and decision making processes at the local level as well as on the ability of the poor to organize The study involved interviews with key actors within and outside city governments discussions with poverty groups community organizations and non governmental organizations NGOs as well as analyses of data on poverty services and finance This book presents insights conclusions and practical examples that are of relevance for other cities It outlines policy implications for national and local governments NGOs and donor agencies and highlights ways in which poor people can use their voice to influence the various institutions of city governance

Planning Sustainable Cities Un-Habitat, 2016-05-13 Current urban planning systems are not equipped to deal with the major urban challenges of the twenty first century including effects of climate change resource depletion and economic instability plus continued rapid urbanization with its negative consequences such as poverty slums and urban informality These planning systems have also to a large extent failed to meaningfully involve and accommodate the ways of life of communities and other stakeholders in the planning of urban areas thus contributing to the problems of spatial marginalization and exclusion It is clear that urban planning needs to be reconsidered and revitalized for a sustainable urban future Planning Sustainable Cities reviews the major challenges currently facing cities and towns all over the world the emergence and spread of modern urban planning and the effectiveness of current approaches More importantly it identifies innovative urban planning approaches and practices that are more responsive to current and future challenges of urbanization The Global Report on Human Settlements is the most authoritative and up to date global assessment of human settlements conditions and trends It is an essential reference for researchers academics public authorities and civil society organizations all over the world Preceding issues of the report have addressed such topics as Cities in a Globalizing World The Challenge of Slums Financing Urban Shelter and Enhancing Urban Safety and Security Megacities Dirk Kruijt, Kees Koonings, 2013-04-04 For the first time in history the majority of the world's population lives in cities the result of a rapid process of urbanization that started in the second half of the twentieth century Megacities around the world are rapidly becoming the scene for deprivation especially in the global South and the urban excluded face the brunt of what in many cases seems like low intensity warfare Featuring case studies from across the globe including Latin America the Middle East and Africa Megacities examines recent worldwide trends in poverty and social exclusion urban violence and politics and links these to the challenges faced by policy makers and practitioners

Urban Governance and Informal Settlements Ninik Suhartini, Paul Jones, 2019-02-04 The objective of this book is to better understand the nature of urban governance regarding the provision of basic urban services in rapidly growing mid sized towns and cities in developing countries Set within the context of understanding urban planning and management within the wider city setting the study focuses on the provision of the basic urban services of housing water and sanitation especially within informal settlements Using the case study of the mid sized city of Jayapura Papua Indonesia the publication explores i the types processes and stakeholders that constitute formal urban governance in the provision of basic urban services ii understanding how stakeholders gain and benefit from on the ground formal service arrangements and why and iii for those who do not directly benefit from the formal arrangements how individuals groups and communities organize and access governance to meet their basic urban needs The methods employed to better understand the nature of urban governance and its relationship to the provision of basic urban services comprised primary face to face household surveys interviewing 448 respondents ground mapping at a plot size level in four informal settlements and semi structured interviews with 12 stakeholders and secondary data regarding urban governance planning and management The study reveals that urban governance arrangements in fast growing mid sized cities have emerged both formally and informally to cope with basic urban service needs across a range of settlement types and socio cultural groups The major modes of governance arrangements in the informal settlements consist of traditional formal and informal and hybrid governance which co evolve as their boundaries overlap and intersect through time at varying levels of equilibrium The governance equilibrium represents a balance at a specific point and place in time in how stakeholders utilize and share resources and access various contributions

GIS in Sustainable Urban Planning and Management Martin van Maarseveen, Javier Martinez, Johannes Flacke, 2018-12-07 The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.tandfebooks.com/doi/view/10.1201/9781315146638> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 3.0 license GIS is used today to better understand and solve urban problems GIS in Sustainable Urban Planning and Management A Global Perspective explores and illustrates the capacity that geo information and GIS have to inform practitioners and other participants in the processes of the planning and management of urban regions The first part of the book addresses the concept of sustainable urban development its different frameworks the many ways of measuring sustainability and its value in the urban policy arena The second part discusses how urban planning can shape our cities examines various spatial configurations of cities the spread of activities and the demands placed on different functions to achieve strategic objective It further focuses on the recognition that urban dwellers are increasingly under threat from natural hazards and climate change Written by authors with expertise on the applications of geo information in urban management this book showcases the importance of GIS in better understanding current urban challenges and provides new insights on how to apply GIS in urban planning It illustrates through real world cases the use of GIS in analyzing and evaluating the position of disadvantaged groups and areas in cities and provides clear examples of applied GIS in urban sustainability and urban resilience The idea of sustainable development is still very much central in the new development agenda of the United Nations and in that sense it is of particular importance for students from both the Global South and Global North Professionals researchers and students alike will find this book to be an invaluable resource for understanding and solving problems relating to sustainable urban planning and management Handbook on Child Poverty and Inequality Alberto Minujin, Enrique Delamonica, 2025-07-15 This Handbook provides a comprehensive overview of the conceptualisation and the latest developments in research about child poverty and inequality Adopting a child rights framework it demonstrates the importance of a multi dimensional understanding of poverty specific to children for both research and policy making Administration in India Ashish Kumar Srivastava, Iva Ashish Srivastava, 2023-11-24 This book offers a comprehensive analysis of the administration in India from independence to date It examines the major transformation in the administrative service initiated by the Minimum Government and Maximum Governance initiative of the Government of India in 2014 In spite of enormous diversity and population India has made remarkable progress in various fields such as health education infrastructure and technology Structured in three parts 1 social sector 2 infrastructure and economy and 3 e governance and service delivery the book examines challenges of governance and provides insight into different innovations undertaken to address these challenges E governance lies at the core of this transformation of accountability transparency and time bound service delivery Contributions in this book are written by experts working in the Indian Administrative Service IAS academia and the private sector and cover a wide spectrum of administration from the point of view of different departments of government as well as the experiences of the authors ranging from senior bureaucrats to mid career officers and analyses of researchers on administration and its challenges The initiatives covered in this book can serve as solutions to similar challenges faced by other developing countries in the world The book will be of interest to researchers in the fields of administration and policy civil service public management South Asian politics and Development Studies Cities and Development Jo Beall, Sean Fox, 2009-09-10 By 2030 more than sixty percent of the world s population will live in urban areas with most of the world s population growth over the next twenty five years being absorbed by cities and towns in low and middle income countries What are the consequences of this shift Demographic pressure already strains the capacity of local and national governments to manage urban change Today nearly one billion people live in slums and in the absence of significant intervention that number is set to double in the next two decades Will our future be dominated by mega cities of poverty and despair or can urbanization be harnessed to advance human and economic development Cities and Development provides a critical exploration of the dynamic relationship between urbanism and development Highlighting both the challenges and opportunities associated with rapid urban change the book surveys the historical relationship between urbanization and development the role cities play in fostering economic growth in a globalizing world the unique characteristics of urban poverty and the poor record of interventions designed to tackle it the complexities of managing urban environments issues of urban crime violence war and terrorism in contemporary cities the importance of urban planning governance and politics in shaping city futures This book brings into conversation debates from urban and development studies and highlights the strengths and weaknesses of current policy and planning responses to the contemporary urban challenge It includes research orientated supplements in the form of summaries boxed case studies development questions and further reading The book is intended for senior undergraduate and graduate students interested in urban international and development studies as well as policy makers and planners concerned with equitable and sustainable urban development

Urban Informality Ahmed M. Soliman, 2021-04-26 This professional book introduces an analytical framework of urban informality perspectives in the Middle East that is aligned with the Global South The context of Egypt Lebanon and Jordan in the Middle East is the transregional focus of this book In these contexts the book opens a new arena of academic discussion on the theory and practice of urban informality Urban Informality Experiences and Urban Sustainability Transitions in Middle East Cities questions urban informality as a site of transitions interrelated and interlinked with urban sustainability transitions in speedy changes in a given environment The book presents urban informality sustainability transitions regarding resilience and adaptability that require shifts in urban systems Shifts from a static process to a dynamic process that eradicates the fragmentation between the tensions anxieties and pressures of four modes of production reproduction consumptions and distribution of goods and services in the city and its practices Finally through eleven chapters the concluding remarks explore to what extent and how can urban informality transitions be sustainable

Changing Governance and Public Policy in East Asia Ka Ho Mok, Ray Forrest, 2008-11-24 The search for good governance has become an increasingly important element of public policy and public management and is high on the political agenda of East Asian countries The need for robust governance structures and institutions was brought into sharp focus by the Asian Financial Crisis which adversely affected most East Asian societies Since then they have begun to look for ways to restructure their public administration and political systems in order to develop new mechanisms and structures to promote good governance This book focuses on how selected Asian states have responded to the growing impact of liberalizing and marketizing trends in public policy formulation and public management To what extent is the state guided regime in Asia still relevant to governing public policy public management What are the policy implications for a growing number of Asian states which are pursuing more pro competition policy instruments The book is a timely and important collection that offers critical analysis of the search for new governance in Asia and compares and contrasts experiences in selected Asian societies such as China Japan Hong Kong Taiwan South Korea Singapore and other parts of South East Asia Chapters are written by leading scholars in the fields of comparative development policy and governance studies from Hong Kong Macau Taiwan China Singapore Japan and the United Kingdom

Managing Urban Futures Marco Keiner, 2016-12-05 Urbanization is one of the most powerful forces influencing global sustainability It is dominated by three factors population growth rural urban migration and subsequent urban expansion Perhaps nowhere are these factors more dominant than in developing countries This volume brings together leading experts including Alan Gilbert John Friedmann Saskia Sassen and Janice Perlman to explore the conflicting challenges of rapid urbanization in developing countries While all have to contend with key issues such as social segregation poverty and loss of governability the ongoing forces of urban growth vary from country to country By comparing the challenges of urbanization in Africa Latin America Asia and the Pacific this book puts forward a new way of thinking about mega and million cities in developing countries one that promotes their vital function in society as engines of ideas technologies societal change democratic transformation and loci of political will to build a new regime of global sustainability Rebel Streets and the Informal Economy Alison Brown,2017-02-24 Street trade is a critical and highly visible component of the informal economy linked to global systems of exchange Yet policy responses are dismissive and evictions commonplace Despite being progressively marginalised from public space street traders in the global south are engaged in spatial and political battlegrounds to reclaim space and claim de facto property rights over their place of work through quiet infiltration union power or direct action This book explores rebel streets the challenges faced by informal economy actors and how organised groups are seeking to reframe legal understandings to create new claims to space and urban rights The book sets out new thinking and a conceptual framework for improved understanding of the plural relationship between law rights and space for the informal economy the contest between traditional modernist and rights based approaches to development and impacts on the urban working poor With a focus on street trading the book seeks to reframe the legal context in which modern informal economies operate drawing on key areas of academic inquiry and case studies of how vendors are staking claim to urban rights The book argues for a reconceptualisation of legal instruments to provide a rights based framework for urban work that recognises the legitimacy of urban informal economies the scope for collective management of urban resources and the social value of public space as a site for urban livelihoods It will be of interest to students and scholars of geography economics urban studies development studies political studies and law Urban Resettlements in the Global South Raffael Beier,Amandine Spire,Marie Bridonneau,2021-09-09 Urban Resettlements in the Global South provides new perspectives on resettlement through an urban studies lens To date resettlement has been theorised through development studies and refugee studies but urban resettlement is also a major dimension of urban development in the Global South and may help to rethink contemporary urban dynamics between spectacular new town developments and rising incidences of eviction and displacement Conceptualising resettlement as a binding notion between production regeneration and destruction demolition of urban space helps to illuminate interdependencies and to underline significant ambiguities within affected people s perspectives towards resettlement projects This volume will offer an interesting selection of ten different case studies with rich empirical data from Latin America North and Sub Saharan Africa and Asia focused on each stage of resettlement before during after relocation through different timescales By offering a frame for analysing and rethinking resettlement within urban studies it will support any scholar or expert dealing with resettlement displacement and housing in an urban context seeking to improve housing and planning policies in and for the city New Perspectives in Caribbean Tourism Marcella

Daye, Donna Chambers, Sherma Roberts, 2008-04-07 This volume explores tourism in the Caribbean one of the most tourism dependent regions of the world within the context of key currents of Caribbean thought and critique in relation to issues of dependency postcolonial interactions race and class as well as identity and culture African Cities Francesca Locatelli, Paul Nugent, 2009 Contemporary Africa is undergoing a period of unprecedented urban expansion which is throwing up new challenges in the provision of essential services and contentious questions about ownership of urban spaces This volume explores the interconnections between these processes whilst avoiding the tendency to forget that cities are also embedded in deeper historical processes that are integral to the framing of entitlements Histories of migrancy and the creation of urban stranger communities are fundamental in deciding who lives where and what this means materially and socially The gated communities that are springing up are often layered across older forms of urban segregation and or segmentation Urban water and food supply the management of urban land claims inequality and popular culture are closely examined From Local Action to Global Networks: Housing the Urban Poor Peter Herrle, Astrid Ley, 2016-03-09 Over the past two decades it has become widely recognized that housing issues have to be placed in a broader framework acknowledging that civil society in the form of Community Based Organizations CBOs and their allies are increasingly networking and emerging as strong players that cannot easily be overlooked Some of these networks have crossed local and national boundaries and have jumped political scales This implies that housing issues have to be looked at from new angles they can no longer simply be addressed through localized projects but rather at multiple scales The current debate is largely limited to statements about the relevance of individual organizations for local housing processes and tends to overlook the innovativeness in terms of re scaling those processes and of influencing institutional change at various levels by transcending national boundaries There is a significant lack of a systemic understanding of such globally operating grassroots networks and how they function in the housing process This book brings together different perspectives on multi scalar approaches within the housing field and on grassroots engagement with formal agencies including local government higher levels of government and international agencies By moving away from romanticizing local self initiatives it focuses on understanding the emerging potential once local initiatives are interlinked and scaled up to transnational networks Social Justice and Neoliberalism Professor Adrian Smith, Professor Alison Stenning, Katie Willis, 2013-07-04 The continuing expansion of neoliberalism into ever more spaces and spheres of life has profound implications for social justice Despite the number of policies designed to target social exclusion people in many communities continue to be marginalized by economic restructuring Social Justice and Neoliberalism explores the connections between neoliberalism social justice and exclusion The authors raise critical questions about the extent to which neoliberal programmes are able to deliver social justice in different locations around the world The book offers grounded theoretically oriented empirically rich analysis that critiques neoliberalism while understanding its material impacts It also stresses the need to extend analyses beyond the dominant spheres of capitalism to look at the ways in which communities resist and remake the economic and social order through contestation and protest but also in their everyday lives Global in scope this book brings together writers who examine these themes in the global South the former communist East and the West using the experience of marginal peoples places and communities to challenge our conceptions of capitalism and its geographies
