Success In The Barbeque Eatery Vincent Gabriel, 2014-12-01 The Barbeque Eatery is the institution that the locals find as the defining mark of the expatriate Australian and American communities in their own country If there is one expatriate he sends home letters and postcards If there are two expatriates they set up a Sunday service If there are three expatriates then after the worship service they set up the barbeque In a way the Barbeque represents the stage when the expats consider the foreign country no more foreign than their home They have been accepted by the local community and they can gather to enjoy themselves in a way that is special to them This book takes the approach of expats introducing the barbeque to the locals Many local communities have the barbeque but none has developed such a rich food culture related to the barbeque The food culture would be less rich if not for the addition of the barbeque and the social life that grows around as locals and the expats mingle over good food

Leadership Network Innovation Series      Divided Fates Kazuko Suzuki, 2016-05-12 Winner ASA Book Award on Asia Transnational 2017 This book compares the Korean diasporic groups in Japan and the United States It highlights the contrasting adaptation of Koreans in Japan and the United States and illuminates how the destinies of immigrants who originally belonged to the same ethnic national collectivity diverge depending upon destinations and how they are received in a certain state and society within particular historical contexts The author finds that the mode of incorporation a specific combination of contextual factors rather than ethnic culture and race plays a decisive role in determining the fates of these Korean immigrant groups In other words what matters most for immigrants integration is not their particular cultural background or racial similarity to the dominant group but the way they are received by the host state and other institutions Thus this book is not just about Korean immigrants it is also about how contexts of reception including different conceptualizations of race in relation to nationhood affect the adaptation of immigrants from the same ethnic national origin
