Medical Apartheid Harriet A. Washington,2008-01-08 NATIONAL BOOK CRITICS CIRCLE AWARD WINNER The first full history of Black America s shocking mistreatment as unwilling and unwitting experimental subjects at the hands of the medical establishment No one concerned with issues of public health and racial justice can afford not to read this masterful book Washington has unearthed a shocking amount of information and shaped it into a riveting carefully documented book New York Times From the era of slavery to the present day starting with the earliest encounters between Black Americans and Western medical researchers and the racist pseudoscience that resulted Medical Apartheid details the ways both slaves and freedmen were used in hospitals for experiments conducted without their knowledge a tradition that continues today within some black populations It reveals how Blacks have historically been prey to grave robbing as well as unauthorized autopsies and dissections Moving into the twentieth century it shows how the pseudoscience of eugenics and social Darwinism was used to justify experimental exploitation and shoddy medical treatment of Blacks Shocking new details about the government s notorious Tuskegee experiment are revealed as are similar less well known medical atrocities conducted by the government the armed forces prisons and private institutions The product of years of prodigious research into medical journals and experimental reports long undisturbed Medical Apartheid reveals the hidden underbelly of scientific research and makes possible for the first time an understanding of the roots of the African American health deficit At last it provides the fullest possible context for comprehending the behavioral fallout that has caused Black Americans to view researchers and indeed the whole medical establishment with such deep distrust

The Rats Had Never Left Abdusamaad (Sam) Karani,2023-01-05 Systemic racism underlies post colonial societies due in part to the undeniable legacy of historical racism The conquering colonist often mistakenly referred to as the settler colonist dominated the colonized especially their minds Overcoming destructive colonialism and systemic racism requires the decolonization of the mind the mutually embedded mindsets of the conqueror and the colonized Eliminating this legacy requires that we know who we are and admit to and rectify past mistakes The Rats Had Never Left draws on the lived experiences of Abdusamaad Sam Karani in Apartheid South Africa including his personal advocacy for mental health and psychology in society and the cost he paid in the process Having lived abroad in London UK and now Canada Karani shares his experiences with the destructive legacy of systemic racism Liberal democracies need to overcome the legacy of systemic racism So how do we move forward How do we keep ourselves from being stuck in the destructiveness of the blame game Enhancing tolerance is the way forward The racialized must not be reluctant to take the initiative Society's institutions police the justice system etc need to self reflect for long term change keeping in mind that power has traditionally never been shared as a natural process with society's disadvantaged Artificial Intelligence and Healthcare Natasha H.

Williams,2024-01-01 This book explores the ethical problems of algorithmic bias and its potential impact on populations that experience health disparities by examining the historical underpinnings of explicit and implicit bias the influence of the social determinants of health and the inclusion of racial and ethnic minorities in data Over the last twenty five years the diagnosis and treatment of disease have advanced at breakneck speeds Currently we have technologies that have revolutionized the practice of medicine such as telemedicine precision medicine big data and AI These technologies especially AI promise to improve the quality of patient care lower health care costs improve patient treatment outcomes and decrease patient mortality AI may also be a tool that reduces health disparities however algorithmic bias may impede its success This book explores the risks of using AI in the context of health disparities It is of interest to health services researchers ethicists policy analysts social scientists health disparities researchers and AI policy makers Heritage Knowledge in the Curriculum

Joyce E. King, Ellen E. Swartz, 2018-04-27 Moving beyond the content integration approach of multicultural education this text powerfully advocates for the importance of curriculum built upon authentic knowledge construction informed by the Black intellectual tradition and an African episteme By retrieving examining and reconnecting the continuity of African Diasporan heritage with school knowledge this volume aims to repair the rupture that has silenced this cultural memory in standard historiography in general and in PK 12 curriculum content and pedagogy in particular This ethically informed curriculum approach not only allows students of African ancestry to understand where they fit in the world but also makes the accomplishments and teachings of our collective ancestors available for the benefit of all King and Swartz provide readers with a process for making overt and explicit the values actions thoughts and behaviors reflected in an African episteme that serves as the foundation for African Diasporan sociohistorical phenomenon events With such knowledge teachers can conceptualize curriculum and shape instruction that locates people in all cultures as subjects with agency

The Man who Killed Apartheid: The Life of Dimitri Tsafendas Harris Dousemetzis, 2023-01-10 On 6 September 1966 inside the House of Assembly in Cape Town Dimitri Tsafendas fatally stabbed Hendrik Verwoerd South Africa's Prime Minister and so called architect of apartheid Tsafendas was immediately arrested and before the authorities had even questioned him they declared him a madman without any political motive for the killing In the Cape Supreme Court Tsafendas was found unfit to stand trial on the grounds that he suffered from schizophrenia and that he had no political motive for killing Verwoerd Tsafendas spent the next 28 years in prison making him the longest serving prisoner in South African history For most of his incarceration he was subjected to cruel and inhumane treatment by the prison authorities This new updated edition contains all the developments regarding the Tsafendas case after the publication of the book's first edition

Good Science Charis Thompson, 2013-12-20 An examination of a decade and a half of political controversy ethical debate and scientific progress in stem cell research After a decade and a half human pluripotent stem cell research has been normalized There may be no consensus on the status of the embryo only a tacit agreement to disagree but the debate now takes place in a context in which human stem cell research and related technologies already exist In this book Charis Thompson investigates the evolution of the controversy over human pluripotent stem cell research in the United States and proposes a new ethical approach for good science Thompson traces political ethical and scientific developments that came together in what she characterizes as a procurial framing of innovation based on concern with procurement of pluripotent cells and cell lines a pro cures mandate and a proliferation of bio curatorial practices Thompson describes what she calls the ethical choreography that allowed research to go on as the controversy continued The intense ethical attention led to some important discoveries as scientists attempted to invent around ethical roadblocks Some ethical concerns were highly legible but others were hard to raise in the dominant procurial framing that allowed government funding for the practice of stem cell research to proceed despite controversy Thompson broadens the debate to include such related topics as animal and human research subjecthood and altruism Looking at fifteen years of stem cell debate and discoveries Thompson argues that good science and good ethics are mutually reinforcing rather than antithetical in contemporary biomedicine

Using Evidence in Policy and Practice Ian Goldman, Mine Pabari, 2020-06-10 This book asks how governments in Africa can use evidence to improve their policies and programmes and ultimately to achieve positive change for their citizens Looking at different evidence sources across a range of contexts the book brings policy makers and researchers together to uncover what does and doesn't work and why Case studies are drawn from five countries and the ECOWAS west African region and a range of sectors from education wildlife sanitation through to government procurement processes The book is supported by a range of policy briefs and videos intended to be both practical and critically rigorous It uses evidence sources such as evaluations research synthesis and citizen engagement to show how these cases succeeded in informing policy and practice The voices of policy makers are key to the book ensuring that the examples deployed are useful to practitioners and researchers alike This innovative book will be perfect for policy makers practitioners in government and civil society and researchers and academics with an interest in how evidence can be used to support policy making in Africa The Open Access version of this book available at <https://doi.org/10.4324/9781003007043> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license

Mad Studies Reader Bradley Lewis, Alisha Ali, Jazmine Russell, 2024-09-30 The last few years have brought increased writings from activists artists scholars and concerned clinicians that cast a critical and constructive eye on psychiatry mental health care and the cultural relations of mental difference With particular focus on accounts of lived experience and readings that cover issues of epistemic and social injustice in mental health discourse the Mad Studies Reader brings together voices that advance anti sanist approaches to scholarship practice art and activism in this realm Beyond offering a theoretical and historical overview of mad studies this Reader draws on the perspectives voices and experiences of artists mad pride activists humanities and social science scholars and critical clinicians to explore the complexity of mental life and mental difference Voices from these groups confront and challenge standard approaches to mental difference They advance new structures of meaning and practice that are inclusive of those who have been systematically subjugated and promote anti sanist approaches to counter inequalities prejudices and discrimination Confronting modes of psychological oppression and the power of a few to interpret and define difference for so many the Mad Studies Reader asks the critical question of how these approaches may be reconsidered resisted and reclaimed This collection will be of interest to mental health clinicians students and scholars of the arts humanities and social sciences and anyone who has been affected by mental difference directly or indirectly who is curious to explore new perspectives

Living and Dying Well Charles Camosy, 2025-07-14 The complex paradoxical relationship with death in the consumerist West is playing out in ways that are quite dramatic Our culture is now at a tipping point when it comes to physician assisted killing PAK A Catholic understanding of what it means to die well and by extension what it means to live well and what it means to help others to live and die well provides an essential way of resisting the existential threat to human dignity posed by PAK As individuals and communities

we must work to create a counterculture of encounter and hospitality to resist the eugenic culture of death and the throwaway culture of consumerism Living and Dying Well builds on both Sacred Scripture and Tradition diving into Jesus paradigmatic example of how to die and live and the example of saints monks and Catholic healthcare providers This book challenges all of us to live and die with these values and practices in mind as individuals as families and as broader Church communities and institutions This book includes general and practical reminders for the last things clinical red flags and options for responding to physician assisted killing and trustworthy Catholic resources for end of life care Blood Sugar Anthony Ryan Hatch, 2016-04-10 Why do African Americans have exceptionally high rates of hypertension diabetes and obesity Is it their genes Their disease prone culture Their poor diets Such racist explanations for racial inequalities in metabolic health have circulated in medical journals for decades Blood Sugar analyzes and challenges the ways in which metabolic syndrome has become a major biomedical category that medical researchers have created to better understand the risks high blood pressure blood sugar body fat and cholesterol pose to people An estimated sixty million Americans are well on the way to being diagnosed with it many of them belonging to people of color Anthony Ryan Hatch argues that the syndrome represents another very real crisis and that its advent signals a new form of colorblind scientific racism a repackaging of race within biomedical and genomic research Examining the cultural discussions and scientific practices that target human metabolism of prescription drugs and sugar by African Americans he reveals how medical researchers who use metabolic syndrome to address racial inequalities in health have in effect reconstructed race as a fixed biological genetic feature of bodies without incorporating social and economic inequalities into the equation And just as the causes of metabolic syndrome are framed in racial terms so are potential drug treatments and nutritional health interventions The first sustained social and political inquiry of metabolic syndrome this provocative and timely book is a crucial contribution to the emerging literature on race and medicine It will engage those who seek to understand how unjust power relations shape population health inequalities and the production of medical knowledge and biotechnologies
