Medication Review
Client Report Reports no noticeable change in ability to focus, no reduction in symptoms.
Compliance Good compliance, remembering to take medication twice daily with reminder app on her phone
Side Effects Helen reports she had headaches in the first week which have eased off, and some exaggeration of symptoms in the afternoon as medication wears off. No weight loss, no insomnia.
Change(s) to Medication Increase to 15mg methylphenidate twice daily
Progress Note
Helen continues to struggle with focussing during meetings and completing tasks required of her. She has made good steps to incorporating exercise and healthy diet into her routine, but still struggles with listening comprehension, remaining focussed, keeping track of time and executive function.
Her side effects have been minimal and have eased off in the past week, so I recommend we increase methylphenidate dose and review in the next session- particularly to review development of "rebound" symptoms in late afternoon.
Additional Note
Will see Helen in two weeks to review increased dosage. Copy of progress note to Helen's GP.

Violence in Psychiatry Katherine D. Warburton, Stephen M. Stahl, 2016-04-28

The association between violence and mental illness is well studied yet remains highly controversial. Currently, there does appear to be a trend of increasing violence in hospital settings, including both civilly and forensically committed populations. In fact, physical aggression is the primary reason for admission to many hospitals. Given that violence is now often both a reason for admission and a barrier to discharge, there is a pressing need for violence to be re-conceptualized as a primary medical condition, not as the by-product of one. Furthermore, treatment settings need to be enhanced to address the new types of violence exhibited in inpatient environments, and this modification needs to be geared toward balancing safety with treatment. This book focuses on violence from assessment through underlying neurobiology to treatment and other recommendations for practice. This will be of interest to forensic psychiatrists, general adult psychiatrists, psychiatric residents, psychologists, psychiatric social workers, and rehabilitation therapists.
