Doing Prison Work Elaine M Crawley, 2013-01-11 This book provides a much needed sociological account of the social world of the English prison officer making an original contribution to our understanding of the inner life of prisons in general and the working lives of prison officers in particular As well as revealing how the job of the prison officer and of the prison itself is accomplished on a day to day basis the book explores not only what prison officers do but also how they feel about their work In focusing on how prison officers feel about their work this book makes a number of interesting revelations about the essentially domestic nature of much of the work they do about the degree of emotional labour invested in it and about the performance nature of many of the day to day interactions between officers and prisoners Finally the book follows the prison officer home after work showing how the prison can spill over into their home lives and family relationships Based on extensive ethnographic fieldwork in different types of prisons including interviews with prison officers wives and children as well as prison officers themselves this book will be essential reading for all those with an interest in how prisons and organisations more generally operate in practice

Absolutely Cheryl Wragg,2007-02-28 There was a time where I had actually reached the anaesthetics room I had already had my pre med and I remember singing about bikes I m not sure why because to be truthful I can t even ride one so that must have been a sight for sore eyes I ll bet the staff had a real good laugh about it mind you I didn t care as I was in a world of my own The staff and I also arranged to have my pacemaker mounted on marble everything was going great I was relaxed and I was certainly ready Come on guys get a wriggle on I urged them They were just about to put me to sleep when all of a sudden the swinging doors to the anaesthetic room burst open Stop it s been cancelled I heard someone shout At that particular time I didn t care you could say I was high on pre med which was a good job really because all the tubes I had put in to prepare me for the operation had to be quickly taken out I was then taken back to my room where I found my mum huddled into a corner crying hey mum what s up don t worry chick I ll be reight there s always another time She was absolutely distraught it s hard to imagine how she must have felt especially as only a few moments ago I had said good bye to her She had been in such high spirits because at last I was having my transplant but then to hear it had been cancelled AGAIN it s got to have been worse than torture Eventually I came down to earth but during the night I was going mad with pains down my arms I m not sure what had caused this but possibly it could have been something to do with the anaesthetic room because I did learn they had to get me out of there pretty quickly to get someone else in This time it was the heart which had let me down when before it had been the lungs so they were being used for another transplant patient The next morning I saw everything in a different light remembering what had happened the night before and when I got my thoughts together I couldn t believe it As far as I was concerned they were mine those organs were mine I d waited lo ng enough plus I d had more cancellations than anyone else for god sake it was my turn I couldn t wait to get home and when the transplant doctor came to see us before we left my mum asked him if the heart was better than the one I had then why in heavens name couldn t he use it especially if the lungs were good When I give her new heart and lungs they have to be the best or not at all she deserves that he replied a little emotionally That day was hard enough but I do have one regret because something happened on the way out of the hospital While I was being taken out to the ambulance the mother of the young girl who had had my lungs came over to talk to me and I was really rude to her I remember shoving her away I didn't want to talk to her I couldn't talk to her I felt so angry Her daughter had been saved whereas my little girl could lose her mum at any time I needed that transplant more than anything and I was blaming her for it I didn't know it then but she was really upset when she returned to the ward
