Women in Magazines Rachel Ritchie, Sue Hawkins, Nicola Phillips, S. Jay Kleinberg, 2016-02-19 Women have been important contributors to and readers of magazines since the development of the periodical press in the nineteenth century By the mid twentieth century millions of women read the weeklies and monthlies that focused on supposedly feminine concerns of the home family and appearance In the decades that followed feminist scholars criticized such publications as at best conservative and at worst regressive in their treatment of gender norms and ideals However this perspective obscures the heterogeneity of the magazine industry itself and women's experiences of it both as readers and as journalists This collection explores such diversity highlighting the differing and at times contradictory images and understandings of women in a range of magazines and women's contributions to magazines in a number of contexts from late nineteenth century publications to twenty first century titles in Britain North America continental Europe and Australia
