My perspective regarding the 5 necessary conditions – educationally only – seems to have incorporated some additional or extra factors since then. In 1998, I wrote that the three critical factors for developing a community that includes women's issues and service programs, I believed were the leadership of senior and middle faculty, which I assumed the community would value as necessary to achieve its women-related mission; faculty buy-in; and that they provided the necessary path to a solid and sustained institutional reprogramming. One of the programs that I have developed since then is the University of Maryland Women's Leadership Program, as well as the 5 steps for the steps that I believe are critical to reprogramming within a community through which the new educational mission

I believe that the E Symposium on Industrial and Systems Engineering (ISE) should promote an integrated learning environment that are academically rigorous through its academic advisory programs that provide mathematics, sciences, and computer science as additional rather than engineering subjects. My initial concept has led to a provision to offer ESE programs where students receive both engineering and engineering and technological studies as foundation. I believe that I would have the opportunity to expand on the knowledge I was introduced to as "ESE". I am excited to be able present to that learning system as the E Symposium on Industrial and Systems Engineering through the integration of the academic knowledge and my personal/community service as member of an interdisciplinary community.
