Getting Results with Curriculum Mapping Heidi Hayes Jacobs, 2004-11-15 Curriculum maps are among the simplest yet most effective tools for improving teaching and learning. Because they require people to draw explicit connections between content skills and assessment measures, these maps help ensure that all aspects of a lesson are aligned not only with each other but also with mandated standards and tests. In Getting Results with Curriculum Mapping, Heidi Hayes Jacobs and her coauthors offer a wide range of perspectives on how to get the most out of the curriculum mapping process in districts and schools. In addition to detailed examples of maps from schools across the United States, the authors offer concrete advice on such critical issues as: Preparing educators to implement mapping procedures; Using software to create unique mapping databases; Integrating decision-making structures and staff development initiatives through mapping; Helping school communities adjust to new curriculum review processes; and Making mapping an integral part of literacy training. Teachers, administrators, staff developers, and policymakers alike will find this book an essential guide to curriculum mapping and a vital resource for spearheading school improvement efforts. Directory of Distance Learning Opportunities Modoc Press, Inc., 2003-02-28 This book provides an overview of current K-12 courses and programs offered in the United States as correspondence study or via such electronic delivery systems as satellite cable or the Internet. The Directory includes over 6,000 courses offered by 154 institutions or distance learning consortium members. Following an introduction that describes existing practices and delivery methods, the Directory offers three indexes: Subject Index of Courses Offered by Level; Course Level Index; Geographic Index. All information was supplied by the institutions. Entries include current contact information, a description of the institution and the courses offered, grade level and admission information, tuition and fee information, enrollment periods, delivery information, equipment requirements, credit and grading information, library services, and accreditation.

Advocacy for Social and Linguistic Justice in TESOL Christine E. Poteau, Carter A. Winkle, 2021-12-28 Recognizing the need for increased social justice in the fields of TESOL and English language teaching (ELT) globally, this volume presents a range of international case studies and empirical research to demonstrate how English language instruction can promote social and linguistic justice through advocacy-oriented pedagogies and curricula. Advocacy for Social and Linguistic Justice in TESOL adopts a critical and evidence-based approach to identifying effective practice in ensuring inclusive and equitable learning and teaching. Chapters address emergent issues including heritage language and L1 attrition, teacher and learner identity, and linguistic colonialism, as well as wider issues such as global citizenship and human rights. Focus is placed on empowering both educators and learners as advocates of social justice, and consideration is also given to how social responsibility can be supported through enhanced teacher preparation and professional development. Making a timely contribution at the intersection of advocacy social justice and English language teaching this book will be key reading for postgraduate researchers scholars and academics in the fields of TESOL and ELT as well as language education applied linguistics and the sociology of education more broadly English language teachers and practitioners will also find this volume of interest
