-Our Comments-

Though the Budget 2012-13 has not tried to make any big reforms but at the same time, it has shifted focus from controlling inflation to ensuring Growth with Fiscal consolidation. Few important steps in this direction have been taken in both Direct and Indirect Tax sphere by introducing provisions of GAAR(existing in DTC) early to curb Direct Tax avoidance and by increasing the Service Tax/Excise Duty rates and bring Service Tax under Negative list to align it with proposed GST and make things easy. Impetus has also been given to Capital Markets by reducing STT by 20% and by bringing the E-IPO concept for wider participation in smaller towns. Relaxation in ECB norms would provide some support to the Corporate Sectors mainly Infrastructure, Housing, Power & Coal and Transport and hopes of FDI in Aviation and Multi-Brand Retail would keep these sectors optimistic. To conclude, how much out of this gets delivered in timely manner is actually what would decide the fate of the Government and India Inc.

However in our view, the Retrospective amendments to Section 9(1)(i) for Taxing Indirect Transfer of Assets in India would see a lot of further litigation, more so as it recently got settled by the Supreme Court in Vodafone matter and if enacted, as such it may impact the investment climate in India.
