Reweaving Sacred Canon in Africana Womanhood Rose Mary Amenga-Etego,Rosetta E. Ross,2015-12-15 In this collection continental and diasporan African women interrogate the concept sacred text and analyze ways oral and written religious texts intersect with violence against African descended women and girls While the sanctioned idea of a sacred text is written literature this project interrupts that conception by drawing attention to speech and other embodied practices that have sacral authority within the social imaginary As a volume focused on religion and violence essays in this collection analyze religions authorization of violence against women and girls contest the legitimacy of some religious texts and affirm other writing especially memoir as redemptive Unraveling and Reweaving Sacred Canon in Africana Womanhood arises from three years of conversation of continental and diasporan women most recently continued in the July 6 10 2014 Consultation of African and African Diasporan Women in Religion and Theology and privileges experiences and contexts of continental and diasporan African women and girls Interlocutors include African traditionalists Christian Protestants and Catholics Muslims and women embodying hybrid practices of these and other traditions

Decolonising Journalism Education in South Africa Ms Zubeida Jaffer ,Prof. Ylva Rodny-Gumede ,Dr Mvuso Ponono ,Prof. Colin Chasi ,2021-12-20 With 342 years of colonialism and apartheid in South Africa a book of this calibre is essential to contribute to scholarly debates on the decolonisation of the media After the democratic dispensation in 1994 there was a narrow pursuit of transformation and media freedom while neglecting decolonisation patriarchal tendencies and the plight of black women journalists who are often vilified while discharging their duties It was two decades after democracy that the RhodesMustFall movement which later evolved into FeesMustFall movement reignited debates on decoloniality in the academia Moreover the book is published during the second wave of FeesMustFall student protests and the demand for decolonised free education is inevitable as no permanent solution to student funding crisis was crafted In the same vein the book advocates for decolonised pedagogy in universities including journalism curriculum That ownership of the media is still skewed towards white and with only few black companies gradually joining the industry also brings into doubt media freedom editorial independence ethics and integrity among media practitioners Therefore the decoloniality movement seeks to confront these structural challenges head on via dialogue to ensure the integrity of the journalism profession Decolonising journalism in South Africa is published at a time in which journalism serves a watchdog and a critique of a democratic government and needs to follow a bottom up social justice approach and become a voice to the voiceless Therefore this book seeks to revolutionise the media in a way that even the language of reporting of certain issues needs to be changed to a balanced kind of reporting characterised by principles of no fear or favour

Women and Photography in Apartheid South Africa Marie Meyerding, 2025-04-29 Tracing the lives and works of five women in four case studies author Marie Meyerding examines the representation of women in the field of photography in South Africa in the second half of the twentieth century All of them are critically understudied with no existing scholarship dedicated exclusively to their photographic contributions Focusing on the representation of women on two different levels as agents behind the camera and as subjects in photographs it showcases women photographers portraying their female contemporaries and analyses to what extent they adhered to or subverted common forms of gender representation In recuperating their forgotten archives the book argues that none of these women are marginal figures but rather that each of them played a leading role in the field of photography in their own time The book will be of interest to scholars working in art history history of photography gender studies intersectionality and African studies

Quality Assessment and Enhancement in Higher Education in Africa Peter Neema-Abooki, 2022-12-16 This book explores quality assessment and enhancement in higher education in Africa to illustrate the need to develop quality practices in measuring effective education and continually search for permanent improvement The book demonstrates that technological and socio economic trends innovations and inventions of the twenty first century demand that additional attention be placed upon education for national regional and international development Since conventions for quality assessment and enhancement need to be defined and systematic structures constructed to develop quality practices the book shows how quality in higher education within Africa has been established and advanced to provide a framework for monitoring auditing and reviewing assessment and enhancement Though the book considers African complexities and diversity it incorporates global trends and utilises an international focus that enables readers to devise appropriate strategies for developing and enhancing quality and standards in higher education in both continental Africa and beyond Illustrating why quality assessment and enhancement should be embraced in all aspects including inputs processes outputs and outcomes in educational settings globally this book will be of interest to policymakers and scholars in the fields of Higher Education Quality and Global Studies African Education African Studies and Management and Administration Leadership and Professional Development Studies

Innovative Solutions For Next-Generation Fertilizers Mohamed Ait-El-Mokhtar, Marouane Baslam, Raffaella Maria Balestrini, 2025-10-24 The field of agricultural science is currently grappling with the challenge of feeding a projected global population of 10 billion people by 2050 This task is compounded by the anticipated decline in productivity of two thirds of worldwide agricultural land due to climate change and the intensification of agriculture which has led to soil degradation and reduced fertility Current agricultural practices heavily rely on fertilizers to boost crop productivity but improper application can result in significant economic environmental and social issues including nutrient runoff and increased greenhouse gas emissions Recent studies have highlighted the need for sustainable intensification of agriculture emphasizing the importance of developing next generation fertilizers that are both efficient and environmentally friendly Despite advancements there remains a critical gap in understanding and implementing innovative fertilizer technologies that can sustainably enhance crop yields This research topic aims to explore and develop new and sustainable technologies for next generation fertilizers that can improve crop nutrition efficiency increase yields and promote sustainable agriculture while minimizing environmental impacts The primary objectives include investigating innovative approaches to fertilizer production understanding the molecular mechanisms of action and evaluating the potential of these new technologies to replace conventional fertilizers Key questions to be addressed include how these novel fertilizers can enhance nutrient use efficiency promote crop tolerance to various stresses and improve the nutritional quality of crops To gather further insights into the boundaries of next generation fertilizers we welcome articles addressing but not limited to the following themes Innovative approaches and advanced methods to produce and characterize next generation fertilizers e g rhizosphere microbiome engineering atmospheric nitrogen fixation enhanced efficiency fertilizers biodegradable coatings for controlled release Systems of bioactive based novel fertilizers including biostimulants nutrients signaling molecules and inorganic molecules Development of next generation fertilizers for enhanced nutrient use efficiency NUE in crops Promoting crop tolerance to biotic and abiotic stresses using new fertilizers Synergies between the bioactivities of different fertilizers Improving crop nutritional quality and functionality using next generation fertilizers Understanding the molecular mechanisms of novel fertilizers in imparting stress tolerance and NUE in crops

Ethnicity, Democracy and Citizenship in Africa Samantha Balaton-Chrimes, 2015-03-28 As an ethnic minority the Nubians of Kenya are struggling for equal citizenship by asserting themselves as indigenous and autochthonous to Kibera one of Nairobi s most notorious slums Having settled there after being brought by the British colonial authorities from Sudan as soldiers this appears a peculiar claim to make It is a claim that illuminates the hierarchical nature of Kenya s ethnicised citizenship regime and the multi faceted nature of citizenship itself This book explores two kinds of citizenship deficits those experienced by the Nubians in Kenya and more centrally those which represent the limits of citizenship theories The author argues for an understanding of citizenship as made up of multiple component parts status rights and membership which are often disaggregated through time across geographic spaces and amongst different people This departure from a unitary language of citizenship allows a novel analysis of the central role of ethnicity in the recognition of political membership and distribution of political goods in Kenya Such an analysis generates important insights into the risks and possibilities of a relationship between ethnicity and democracy that is of broad global relevance
