Translating Beowulf Hugh Magennis, 2011 Translations of the Old English poem Beowulf proliferate and their number continues to grow Focusing on the particularly rich period since 1950 this book presents a critical account of translations in English verse setting them in the contexts both of the larger story of recovery and reception of the poem and of perceptions of it over the past two hundred years and of key issues in translation theory Attention is also paid to prose translation and the creative adaptations of the poem that have been produced in a variety of media not least film The author looks in particular at four translations of arguably the most literary and historical importance those by Edwin Morgan 1952 Burton Raffel 1963 Michael Alexander 1973 and Seamus Heaney 1999 But from an earlier period he also gives a full account of William Morris's 1895 version

Direct Speech in Beowulf and Other Old English Narrative Poems Élise Louviot, 2016 A new examination of the little studied phenomena of Direct Speech in Old English poetry Some of the most celebrated passages of Old English poetry are speeches Beowulf and Unferth's verbal contest Hrothgar's words of advice Satan's laments Juliana's words of defiance etc Yet Direct Speech as a stylistic device has remained largely under examined and under theorized in studies of the corpus As a consequence many analyses are unduly influenced by anachronistic conceptions of Direct Speech leading to problematic interpretations not least concerning irony and implicit characterisation This book uses linguistic theories to reassess the role of Direct Speech in Old English narrative poetry Beowulf is given a great deal of attention because it is a major poem and because it is the focus of much of the existing scholarship on this subject but it is examined in a broader poetic context the poem belongs to a wider tradition and thus needs to be understood in that context The texts examined include several major Old English narrative poems in particular the two Genesis Christ and Satan Andreas Elene Juliana and Guthlac A

Élise Louviot is a Lecturer at the University of Reims Champagne Ardenne France and a specialist of Old English poetry Her research interests include orality tradition formulas and the linguistic expression of subjectivity

Corpus Linguistics. Volume 1 Anke Lüdeling, Merja Kytö, 2008-12-10 This volume provides an up to date survey of the field of corpus linguistics a field whose methodology has revolutionized much of the empirical work done in most fields of linguistic study over the past decade

Corpus linguistics investigates human language by starting out from large collections of texts spoken written or recorded. These language corpora which are now regularly available in electronic form are the basis for quantitative and qualitative research on almost any question of linguistic interest. Many techniques that are in use in corpus linguistics today are rooted in the tradition of the late 18th and 19th century when linguistics began to make use of mathematical and empirical methods. Modern corpus linguistics has used and developed these methods in close connection with computer science and computational linguistics. The handbook sketches the history of corpus linguistics, shows its potential, discusses its problems and describes various methods of collecting, annotating and searching corpora as well as processing corpus data. It also reports case studies that illustrate the wide range of linguistic research questions addressed in corpus linguistics. The over 60 articles included in the handbook are divided into five sections: 1 the origins and history of corpus linguistics and surveys of its relationship to central fields of linguistics; 2 corpus compilation; 3 corpus types; 4 preprocessing of corpora; 5 the use and exploitation of corpora. The final section gives an overview of the results of corpus studies obtained in phonetics, phonology, morphology, syntax, semantics, sociolinguistics, historical linguistics, stylometry, dialectology and discourse analysis. It also reports on recent advances made in human and machine translation, contrastive studies, computer assisted language learning and automatic summarization. The contributors to the volume are internationally known experts in their respective fields. The handbook is intended for a wide audience ranging from teachers, university students and scholars to anyone interested in the use of computers in linguistic analyses and applications.
