A Primer for Teaching African History Trevor R. Getz, 2018-03-15 A Primer for Teaching African History is a guide for college and high school teachers who are teaching African history for the first time for experienced teachers who want to reinvigorate their courses for those who are training future teachers to prepare their own syllabi and for teachers who want to incorporate African history into their world history courses Trevor R Getz offers design principles aimed at facilitating a classroom experience that will help students navigate new knowledge historical skills ethical development and worldviews He foregrounds the importance of acknowledging and addressing student preconceptions about Africa challenging chronological approaches to history exploring identity and geography as ways to access historical African perspectives and investigating the potential to engage in questions of ethics that studying African history provides In his discussions of setting goals pedagogy assessment and syllabus design Getz draws readers into the process of thinking consciously and strategically about designing courses on African history that will challenge students to think critically about Africa and the discipline of history

Lessons in Educational Equality Jody Heymann, Adele Cassola, 2012-02-17 All children and youth deserve the opportunity to improve their life chances by acquiring the knowledge and skills that will help them thrive in the future As the world lags far behind the Millennium Development and Education for All goals swift targeted and effective action is needed to improve both access and quality in education

Creating Effective Teaching and Learning Spaces: Shaping Futures and Envisioning Unity in Diversity and Transformation Zilungile Lungi Sosibo, Eunice Ivala, 2021-09-07 Higher education in post apartheid South Africa was always likely to attract academic interest and yet there remains a dearth of research on creating teaching and learning spaces suitable for students from diverse backgrounds Using examples from higher education institutions across the Southern African Developing Community SADC region this volume explores the ways teaching and learning spaces are being used to advance the transformation agenda of higher education in these regions and provides concrete recommendations for the future The book is sure to appeal to academics from a variety of disciplines from African African American and ethnic studies to education and sociology It will be of particular interest to teacher trainers administrators and policy makers working in higher education and anyone else with a stake in managing cultural diversity in education

The New Black Middle Class in South Africa Roger Southall, 2016 Provides the most comprehensive account since the early 1960s of South Africa's black middle class 2016 CHOICE Outstanding Academic Title The rise of the black middle class is one of the most visible aspects of post apartheid society in South Africa Yet while it has been a major actor in the country's democratic reshaping analysis of its role has been all but lacking Rather the image presented by the media has been of black diamonds consumers of the products of advanced industrial economies and of corrupt tenderpreneurs who use their political connections to obtain contracts This book seeks to complicate that picture with a much needed analysis that recounts its historical development in colonial society prior to 1994 before examining the size

shape and structure of the new black middle class in contemporary South Africa and its relation to its counterparts in the Global South Roger Southall is Professor Emeritus in Sociology University of the Witwatersrand Southern Africa South Africa Namibia Botswana Lesotho Zimbabwe and Swaziland Jacana

Large-class Pedagogy David J. Hornsby, Ruksana Osman, Jacqueline De Matos-Ala, 2013-08-01 I highly recommend this edited collection It is a timely intervention when universities around the world are facing changes akin to the newspaper industry a decade ago The authors remind us of the potential power of the lecture and that there does not need to be a trade off between the size of the class and the quality of the delivery Professor James Arvanitakis 2012 recipient of the Prime Minister's Teaching and Learning Award University of Western Sydney Australia This is the first book of its kind that considers the complex issues of large classes As such it makes a very important contribution and provides a deep insight into large class pedagogy from a conceptual and practical perspective Dr Mandia Menits Massey University New Zealand If the thought of teaching large classes fills you with dread if you think that pedagogic innovation is impossible in the face of burgeoning student numbers or if you simply wish to understand more about the dynamics of this increasingly common environment in Higher Education then this is the book for you Written by highly experienced academics it is a valuable and long overdue resource for supporting good practice in the large class context Dr Jenny Hadingham University of Rochester New York

The Encyclopedia of Epic Films Constantine Santas, James M. Wilson, Maria Colavito, Djoymi Baker, 2014-03-21 Soon after film came into existence the term epic was used to describe productions that were lengthy spectacular live with action and often filmed in exotic locales with large casts and staggering budgets The effort and extravagance needed to mount an epic film paid off handsomely at the box office for the genre became an immediate favorite with audiences Epic films survived the tribulations of two world wars and the Depression and have retained the basic characteristics of size and glamour for more than a hundred years Length was and still is one of the traits of the epic though monolithic three to four hour spectacles like Gone with the Wind 1939 and Lawrence of Arabia 1962 have been replaced today by such franchises as the Harry Potter films and the Lord of the Rings trilogy Although the form has evolved during many decades of existence its central elements have been retained refined and modernized to suit the tastes of every new generation The Encyclopedia of Epic Films identifies describes and analyzes those films that meet the criteria of the epic sweeping drama panoramic landscapes lengthy adventure sequences and in many cases casts of thousands This volume looks at the wide variety of epics produced over the last century from the silent spectacles of D W Griffith and biblical melodramas of Cecil B DeMille to the historical dramas of David Lean and rollercoaster thrillers of Steven Spielberg Each entry contains Major personnel behind the camera including directors and screenwriters Cast and character listings Plot summary Analysis Academy Award wins and nominations DVD and Blu ray availability Resources for further study This volume also includes appendixes of foreign epics superhero spectaculars and epics produced for television along with a list of all the directors in the book Despite a lack of overall critical recognition and respect as a genre the epic remains a favorite of audiences and this book pays homage to a form of mass entertainment that continues to fill movie theaters The Encyclopedia of Epic Films will be of interest to academics and scholars as well as any fan of films made on a grand scale Inclusive Teaching in South Africa Tsediso M. Makoelle, 2016-08-31 Inclusive education presupposes an all inclusive approach where all learners are taught in regular classrooms regardless of background disability or social context While there has been much debate indications are that inclusive education has been gaining momentum The book is divided into six coherent sections that address the how of inclusive education both inside and outside of the classroom Teaching to Change the World Jeannie Oakes, Martin Lipton, Lauren Anderson, Jamy Stillman, 2015-11-17 This is an up to the moment engaging multicultural introduction to education and teaching and the challenges and opportunities they present Together the four authors bring a rich blend of theory and practical application to this groundbreaking text Jeannie Oakes is a leading education researcher and former director of the UCLA teacher education program Martin Lipton is an education writer and consultant and has taught in public schools for 31 years Lauren Anderson and Jamy Stillman are former public school teachers now working as teacher educators This unique comprehensive foundational text considers the values and politics that pervade the U S education system explains the roots of conventional thinking about schooling and teaching asks critical questions about how issues of power and privilege have shaped and continue to shape educational opportunity and presents powerful examples of real teachers working for equity and justice Taking the position that a hopeful democratic future depends on ensuring that all students learn the text pays particular attention to inequalities associated with race social class language gender and other social categories and explores teachers role in addressing them The text provides a research based and practical treatment of essential topics and it situates those topics in relation to democratic values issues of diversity and cognitive sociocultural and constructivist perspectives on learning The text shows how knowledge of education foundations and history can help teachers understand the organization of today s schools the content of contemporary curriculum and the methods of modern teaching It likewise shows how teachers can use such knowledge when thinking about and responding to headline issues like charter schools vouchers standards testing and bilingual education to name just a few Central to this text is a belief that schools can and must be places of extraordinary educational quality and institutions in the service of social justice Thus the authors address head on tensions between principles of democratic schooling and competition for always scarce high quality opportunities Woven through the text are the voices of a diverse group of teachers who share their analyses and personal anecdotes concerning what teaching to change the world means and involves Click Here for Book Website Pedagogical Features Digging Deeper sections referenced at the end of each chapter and featured online include supplementary readings and resources from scholars and practitioners who are addressing issues raised in the text Instructor s Manual offers insights about how to teach course content in ways that are consistent with cognitive and sociocultural learning theories culturally diverse pedagogy and

Department of Agriculture, 1913 Dictionary Use and Dictionary Teaching Annette Klosa-Kückelhaus, Martina Nied Curcio, 2024-10-07 Foreign language learners often use electronic dictionaries or other information from the Internet to solve language problems However they seem to have great difficulty using dictionaries and online resources appropriately profitably and successfully Their teachers also seem unfamiliar with the current dictionary landscape and sometimes insist on using a single monolingual print dictionary in class As a result dictionaries are often banned from the classroom altogether However in today s digital global and multilingual world appropriate competence in the use of dictionaries is an essential communicative strategy Dictionary didactics should thus be integrated into foreign language teaching Against this background the contributions in this volume discuss how dictionary use can be promoted and integrated into the classroom They also consider how modern lexical resources and dictionaries should be designed to support learners Last but not least they present ideas for educational policies that could promote the use of dictionaries and lexicographic online resources This volume offers important insights to language teachers authors of language teaching materials practical lexicographers and other applied linguists Nelson's Encyclopaedia ,1907 Rethinking White Societies in Southern Africa Duncan Money, Danelle van Zyl-Hermann, 2020-02-12 This book showcases new research by emerging and established scholars on white workers and the white poor in Southern Africa Rethinking White Societies in Southern Africa challenges the geographical and chronological limitations of existing scholarship by presenting case studies from Angola Mozambique South Africa Zambia and Zimbabwe that track the fortunes of nonhegemonic whites during the era of white minority rule Arguing against prevalent understandings of white society as uniformly wealthy or culturally homogeneous during this period it demonstrates that social class remained a salient element throughout the twentieth century how Southern Africa s white societies were often divided and riven with tension and how the resulting social political and economic complexities animated white minority regimes in the region Addressing themes such as the class based disruption of racial norms and practices state surveillance and interventions and their failures towards nonhegemonic whites and the opportunities and limitations of physical and social mobility the book mounts a forceful argument for the regional consideration of white societies in this historical context Centrally it extends the path breaking insights emanating from scholarship on racialized class identities from North America to the African context to argue that race and class cannot be considered independently in Southern Africa This book will be of interest to scholars and students of southern African studies African history and the history of race
