South African Military Skills Development Form 2015 16:

South Africa's Post-Apartheid Military Lindy Heineken, 2020-01-01 This timely book examines how the South African National Defence Force has adapted to the country's new security political and social environment since 1994. In South Africa's changed political state, how has civilian control of the military been implemented and what does this mean for defence in a democracy? This book presents an overview of the security environment, how the mission focus of the military has changed and the implications for force procurement, force preparation, force employment and force sustainability. The author addresses other issues such as the effect of integrating former revolutionary soldiers into a professional armed force, the effect of affirmative action on meritocracy, recruitment and retention of military veterans, looking at the difficulties they face in reintegrating back into society and finding gainful employment, gender equality and mainstreaming the rise of military unions and why a confrontational instead of a more corporatist approach to labour relations has emerged. HIV/AIDS and the consequences this holds for the military in terms of its operational effectiveness. In closing, the author highlights key events that have caused the SANDF to become lost in transition and transformation, spelling out some lessons learned. The conclusions she draws are pertinent for the future of defence security and civil-military relations of countries around the world.

ESG Disclosures in the Southern African Development Community Mikovhe Maphiri, Samuel O. Idowu, 2025-10-09 This book critically examines the legal and regulatory framework for environmental, social and governance (ESG) regulation in the South African hemisphere. It focuses on the compliance of local and international companies with ESG requirements in Southern African Development Community (SADC) countries in promoting shared values through good governance practices. The book discusses the above in a legal context with particular attention to Southern African corporate laws and the legal and regulatory frameworks related to human rights and environmental law in SADC. The book is valuable for students, practitioners and researchers.

ICCWS 2016 11th International Conference on Cyber Warfare and Security Dr Tanya Zlateva and Professor Virginia Greiman, 2016 The 11th International Conference on Cyber Warfare and Security (ICCWS) 2016 is being held at Boston University, Boston, USA, on the 17-18th March 2016. The Conference Chair is Dr Tanya Zlateva and the Programme Chair is Professor Virginia Greiman, both from Boston University. ICCWS is a recognised Cyber Security event on the International research conferences calendar and provides a valuable platform for individuals to present their research findings, display their work in progress and discuss conceptual and empirical advances in the area of Cyber Warfare and Cyber Security. It provides an important opportunity for researchers and managers to come together with peers to share their experiences of using the varied and expanding range of Cyberwar and Cyber Security research available to them. The keynote speakers for the conference are Daryl Haegley from the Department of Defense (DoD) who will address the topic 'Control Systems Networks: What's in Your Building' and Neal Ziring from the National Security Agency who will be providing some insight to the issue of 'Is Security Achievable? A Practical Perspective'. ICCWS received 125 abstract submissions this

African Peacekeeping Training Centres Anne Flaspöler, 2018-10-26 Peacekeeping training centres play a crucial role in preparing peacekeepers for their deployment However despite their popularity within the international community as a tool for achieving international security development and state building objectives they have not received a great deal of analysis or academic attention This book provides an in depth analysis of peacekeeping training in Africa tracing how centres have adapted to the operational and normative changes of peace operations over time and raising questions about the expectations attached to these training efforts and their impact The book examines training content and methods in detail exploring the potential of peacekeeping training centres as sites for socialisation and diffusing international norms in an effort to change and shape peacekeepers behaviour The analysis is based on two contrasting case studies selected to show the spectrum of training centres operating in Africa namely the Kofi Annan International Peacekeeping Training Centre KAIPTC in Accra Ghana and the African Centre for the Constructive Resolution of Disputes ACCORD in Durban South Africa At a time when impact is being determined by the number of course attendees this book provides an important critical assessment of training efforts and what they are supposed to achieve It will be of interest to scholars and practitioners within the fields of international security peacekeeping and African development Multilingual Education in South Asia Lina Adinolfi,Usree Bhattacharya,Prem

Buzatu, 2015-09-19 The use of private security companies PSCs to provide security services has been on the rise since the end of the Cold War with PSCs operating in a number of contexts including armed conflict and areas where the rule of law has been compromised The use of private actors to perform services that are traditionally associated with the state is not limited to PSCs but is emblematic of a growing trend by governments to outsource functions with a view to improving efficiency and cutting budgets Privatization of public functions can however present a number of challenges to existing national and international regulatory and oversight frameworks In the private security sector these challenges were brought to international attention after high profile incidents in which PSCs injured civilians revealed difficulties in effectively holding international PSCs accountable This paper argues that crafting a multistakeholder regulatory approach in which key stakeholders work together to develop standards that are appropriately adapted for the private sector as well as to create governance and oversight mechanisms to hold these private actors to effective account helps to fill some of the governance gaps found in traditional regulatory approaches It recounts the developments leading to the International Code of Conduct for Private Security Service Providers ICOC and its governance and oversight mechanism the ICOC Association offering an example of the development of an initiative which sets new international standards and elaborates a multistakeholder framework and approach to governance for the private security sector A recent trend of state and non state clients requiring compliance with the ICOC initiative in their contracts with PSCs offers a new take on binding international regulation of private actors China's Vertical Multilateralism and the Global South Dominik Mierzejewski, Jarosław Jura, Bartosz

Kowalski, Mario Esteban, 2025-10-21 This book provides an in depth analysis of China led multilateralism and decodes China's narratives and political and business practices both from theoretical and practical dimensions Introducing the mechanisms that govern China led multilateral formats in what China sees as the Global South the study offers a comparative analysis and checks whether China uses a one size fits all strategy towards the selected case study formats and adopts a more differentiated regional approach The case studies cover the following China led multilateral formats China ASEAN Forum on China Africa Cooperation FOCAC China Central and Eastern Europe and China CELAC The authors introduce four primary practices of China's management of relations within these platforms executing discursive power cultivating elite diplomacy influencing public opinion and navigating economic interactions to illustrate the bilateral and informal nature of China led multilateralism practices They argue that the bilateral approach is driven by China's will to keep its paramount position within the formats and its pursuit to exploit the divisions among countries in these formats Moreover China's relations with the Global South community are governed by informal networks that give the impression of non interference and position China as the principal power due to these relationships inherent asymmetry Cognizant of bilateral and informal drivers of China s multilateral practices the book compares China s relations with selected case studies of countries under the multilateral umbrella Brazil Cambodia Chile Kenya Poland Serbia South Africa and Thailand It considers the growing tensions between China and the West surrounding the crisis of the COVID 19 pandemic the centralisation of power in China and the Russian war in Ukraine Shedding light on China s policies and practices on bilateral and multilateral levels this book will be of interest to researchers studying International Relations Asian Politics the politics of the Global South and Chinese Studies
