Unisa Application Forms 2015:

Curriculum Development and Online Instruction for the 21st Century Fudge, Tamara Phillips, Ferebee, Susan Shepherd, 2021-06-25 The world of education has undergone major changes within the last year that have pushed online instruction to the forefront of learning Thanks to the COVID 19 pandemic online learning has become paramount to the continued and uninterrupted teaching of students and has forced students and teachers alike to adjust to an online learning environment Though some have already returned to the traditional classroom or plan to very soon others have begun to appreciate the value of online education initiatives that had previously been discussed but never acted upon as they have been in the past year With plenty of positive and negative aspects online learning is a complex issue with numerous factors to consider It is an issue that must be studied and examined in order to improve in the future Curriculum Development and Online Instruction for the 21st Century examines the issues and difficulties of online teaching and learning as well as potential solutions and best practices This book includes an examination on the value of teaching fully via the internet as well as the challenges inherent in the training of teachers to teach in online environments While addressing key elements of remote learning such as keeping student data safe as well as methods in which to engage students this book covers topics that include assessment tools teaching deaf students web technology and standardized curricula Ideal for K 12 teachers college faculty curriculum developers instructional designers educational software developers administrators academicians researchers and students this book provides a thorough overview of online education and the benefits and issues that accompany it ICEL 2017 - Proceedings of the 12th International Conference on e-Learning Laurie O. Campbell, Richard Hartshorn, 2017 Intimate Partner Violence, Risk and Security Kate Fitz-Gibbon, Sandra Walklate, Jude McCulloch, Jane Maree Maher, 2018-06-14 This edited collection addresses intimate partner violence risk and security as global issues Although intimate partner violence risk and security are intimately connected they are rarely considered in tandem in the context of global security Yet intimate partner violence causes widespread physical sexual and or psychological harm It is the most common type of violence against women internationally and is estimated to affect 30 per cent of women worldwide Intimate partner violence has received significant attention in recent years animating political debate policy and law reform as well as scholarly attention In bringing together a range of international experts this edited collection challenges status quo understandings of risk and questions how we can reposition the risk of IPV and particularly the risk of IPH as a critical site of global and national security It brings together contributions from a range of disciplines and international jurisdictions including from Australia and New Zealand United Kingdom Europe United States North America Brazil and South Africa The contributions here urge us to think about perpetrators in more nuanced and sophisticated ways with chapters pointing to the structural and social factors that facilitate and sustain violence against women and IPV Contributors point out that states not only exacerbate the structural conditions producing the risks of violence but directly coerce and control women as both citizens and non citizens States too should be understood as collaborators and facilitators of intimate partner violence Effective action against intimate partner violence requires sustained responses at the global state and local levels to end gender inequality Critical to this end are environmental issues poverty and the divisions often along race and ethnic lines underpinning other dimensions of social and economic inequality

Sustainable Development Goals for Society Vol. 1 Godwell Nhamo,Muchaiteyi Togo,Kaitano Dube,2021-06-16 Written by 43 authors from Africa Europe and Latin America this book presents 19 topics addressing poverty in the context of Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) leadership in implementing SDGs and SDGs in service delivery and local government. As the world has gone past five years of implementing the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development and the intertwined 17 SDGs, new opportunities in research continue to open up. Hence, documenting some of the initiatives put in place around the world regarding the implementation of the SDGs is one of the aims of this publication. With 10 years remaining, the book further enhances the desire to scale up SDGs implementation. The selection of case studies from the selected regions also provides a balance in terms of how the SDGs are being rolled out for economic growth, environmental stewardship, and social protection. The ambition remains even with the challenge brought by the COVID-19 pandemic that preoccupied the whole of 2020, spilling over to 2021. There is no doubt that resources have been diverted, but the world must stay on the course to 2030 and beyond. Therefore, the book is relevant for several stakeholders including academics, development partners, government officials, and other individuals that are involved in making sure no one is left behind in the lead to 2030. African Data Privacy Laws Alex B. Makulilo, 2016-11-30.

This volume presents analyses of data protection systems and of 26 jurisdictions with data protection legislation in Africa, as well as additional selected countries without comprehensive data protection laws. In addition, it covers all sub-regional and regional data privacy policies in Africa. Apart from analysing data protection law, the book focuses on the socio-economic contexts, political settings, and legal culture in which such laws developed and operate. It bases its analyses on the African legal culture and comparative international data privacy law. In Africa, protection of personal data is the central preoccupation of data privacy laws on the policy agenda. The recently adopted African Union Cyber Security and Data Protection Convention 2014, which is the first and currently the only single treaty across the globe to address data protection outside Europe, serves as an illustration of such interest. In addition, there are data protection frameworks at sub-regional levels for West Africa, East Africa, and Southern Africa. Similarly, laws on protection of personal data are increasingly being adopted at national level. Yet, despite these data privacy law reforms, there is very little literature about data privacy law in Africa and its recent developments. This book fills that gap. Witness to Power Mathews Phosa, 2024-11-03. Mathews Phosa has been an eyewitness to the dramatic shifts of political power in South Africa. He was involved in the Black Consciousness Movement, the UDF, and the ANC before fleeing into exile in 1985 and becoming an uMkhonto weSizwe commander in Mozambique. A lawyer by training, he was one of the first ANC members to return to South Africa to prepare the way for negotiations. He was premier of Mpumalanga during the presidency of Nelson Mandela, with whom he had a strong relationship. Under Thabo Mbeki, whom he had known in exile, Phosa was pushed to the sidelines with false accusations that he was involved in a plot to overthrow the president. Phosa had served under Jacob Zuma as an MK field commander in Mozambique and he became treasurer general of the ANC when Zuma became its president at Polokwane. But Phosa later became a vocal critic of Zuma, and they didn't speak for years until the night before Zuma's resignation. Phosa and Cyril

Ramaphosa had studied law together at the University of the North in the 1970s and fifty years later Phosa played a key role in advising him over the Phala Phala report that threatened to end his presidency Witness to Power is a gripping story of underground activities military operations negotiations political conflict and intrigue It provides fascinating new insights into the ruling party and its leaders by an ANC elder who worked with them all
