Internal Sources:

- Staff Handbook: A booklet made by most organisations which provides information about rights and responsibilities of the staff, like time keeping, do's and don'ts, information about staff in various departments etc.

4. Describe how representative bodies can support employees. [1.4]

Representative bodies or trade unions are associations of workers who act as a legal representative or bargaining agents for employees in a matter or by law. They are like a support entity for an employee who are there to help and provide telephonic or in person advice in situations like discrimination, racism, disciplinary and grievances etc.

The main common purpose of these associations is to improve the conditions of employment as they work on a constitution which details the governance of their bargaining unit depending on the industry that binds them legally to their negotiations and functioning.

The purpose of their formation is helping to make improvements in pay, benefits, working conditions or social and political status. When required, they would help to negotiate wages, work rules, occupational health and safety standards and any other problem an employee would face during the course of their employment.

5. Identify employer and employee responsibilities for equality and diversity in a business environment. You should give at least two employer responsibilities and two employee responsibilities. [1.5]

If possible, provide relevant equality and diversity procedures from your workplace (or place of study) to support your answer. These documents should be annotated to highlight the relevant sections.

Equality and diversity play an important role in an organisation.

As an employer, it is mandatory to provide an employee, with a safe working environment which is free of discrimination, harassment and intimidation. Every employer should provide equal opportunity to an employee and they should not be treated differently because of their gender, age, cast, colour or race.
