The Case for Rational Optimism Frank Robinson, 2017-07-28 The Case for Rational Optimism tackles a host of challenging subjects in an engaging accessible down to earth style It is intellectually serious ceaselessly intriguing and devoid of banalities While other books in this genre tend to be oriented toward self help this volume brings evolutionary biology neuroscience psychology sociology economics and a keen sense of history to the topic Robinson begins with three goals making the case for feeling good about oneself about humanity in general and about the global situation He addresses such seemingly disparate subjects as selfishness versus altruism mind and free will human nature and issues relating to economics technology the environment and more Unifying these ideas into a coherent philosophical whole are central concepts evolution has endowed our species with more good qualities than bad and why those qualities and our use of reason are the foundations of civilization and how and consistent with our nature we make a better world by valuing human life therefore enabling others to flourish in ways they freely choose The Case for Rational Optimism argues that the highly challenging conditions confronting early man created a Darwinian selective pressure for cooperation even altruism among members of a tribe The author finds evidence for this in the way our brains work and in observable human behavior He argues against existential despair over the human condition Even though there probably is no grand celestial design investing life with meaning he considers this liberating giving every person the freedom to craft their own meaning To Robinson whether sentient beings experience suffering or joy is the only thing that matters without emotive highs and lows the Universe would hardly matter

Uneven Zimbabwe Patrick Bond, 1998 Uneven Zimbabwe examines the influence of domestic and international financial markets and financiers in uneven development in Zimbabwe using and contributing to the tools of radical political economy Theoretically Bond begins with criticism of the classical Marxist concepts of finance capital for focusing on institutional characteristics and failing to grasp underlying dynamics Instead as economic crisis tendencies emerge the power of finance periodically intensifies temporarily displacing crisis through time and space and across geographical scales But the limits of the financial solution become evident when paper assets delink from the productive assets they are meant to represent as well as in the role that finance plays in amplifying uneven development across different economic sectors spaces and scales Social Sc & Ems Gr6 T/g Sue Heese,2004 Resources in Education ,1999 The Global Student Experience Camille Kandiko,Mark Weyers,2013-03-18 There are 100 million students in higher education throughout the world today This collection provides some indication of what are they are learning and of their wider experiences It also outlines the changing global context of provision for undergraduate students as countries and universities respond to what they anticipate will be new demands f
