Validating Technological Innovation David Coniam, Peter Falvey, 2016-04-02 This book discusses Hong Kong's use of onscreen marking OSM in public examinations. Given that Hong Kong leads the way in OSM innovation, this book has arisen from a recognised need to provide a comprehensive coherent account of the findings of various separate but linked validation studies of onscreen public examinations in Hong Kong. The authors discuss their experience of the validation process demonstrating how high stakes innovation should be fully validated by a series of research studies in order to satisfy key stakeholders.

Hacking Diversity Christina Dunbar-Hester, 2020 We regularly read and hear exhortations for women to take up positions in STEM. The call comes from both government and private corporate circles and it also emanates from enthusiasts for free and open source software FOSS i.e. software that anyone is free to use, copy, study and change in any way. Ironically, rate of participation in FOSS related work is far lower than in other areas of computing. A 2002 European Union study showed that fewer than 2 percent of software developers in the FOSS world were women. How is it that an intellectual community of activists so open in principle to one and all a community that prides itself for its enlightened politics and its commitment to social change should have such a low rate of participation by women? This book is an ethnographic investigation of efforts to improve the diversity in software and hackerspace communities with particular attention paid to gender diversity advocacy.

Digital Financial Inclusion and Regulation Ogochukwu Monye, 2022-10-17 This book explores the various considerations for achieving an effective regulatory strategy to improve financial access and usage in Nigeria and beyond. Gaps in the legal and institutional framework for digital financial services DFS as well as the barriers that contribute to financial exclusion are identified as are the policy changes needed to provide more extensive accessible and sustainable financial inclusion value. In addition, the book covers divergent themes around the use of and insights for regulating industry financial services providers and challenger entities that herald industry disruption. The book adopts three research methods. The doctrinal research method is used to buttress the law and development analysis and the themes around regulation, adoption and usage of financial services. To elucidate the application of financial innovations, comparative case studies are drawn from selected jurisdictions including Kenya, South Africa, Ghana, The Philippines, Brazil, Mexico, Uganda, Pakistan, India and Bangladesh. Lastly, using the empirical research method, the author reports the burden experienced by the residents of a community without banks in accessing finance. Included in this discussion are the barriers to finance as well as the coping strategies adopted by the community residents to access formal and informal finance.

Adaptive Collaborative Management in Forest Landscapes Carol J. Pierce Colfer, Ravi Prabhu, Anne M. Larson, 2021-12-12 This book examines the value of Adaptive Collaborative Management for facilitating learning and collaboration with local communities and beyond utilising detailed studies of forest landscapes and communities. Many forest management proposals are based on top down strategies such as the Million Tree Initiatives, Forest Landscape Restoration FLR and REDD, often neglecting local communities In the context of the climate crisis it is imperative that local peoples and communities are an integral part of all decisions relating to resource management Rather than being seen as beneficiaries or people to be safeguarded they should be seen as full partners and Adaptive Collaborative Management is an approach which priorities the rights and roles of communities alongside the need to address the environmental crisis The volume presents detailed case studies and real life examples from across the globe promoting and prioritizing the voices of women and scholars and practitioners from the Global South who are often under represented Providing concrete examples of ways that a bottom up approach can function to enhance development sustainably via its practitioners and far beyond the locale in which they initially worked this volume demonstrates the lasting utility of approaches like Adaptive Collaborative Management that emphasize local control inclusiveness and local creativity in management This book will be of great interest to students scholars and practitioners working in the fields of conservation forest management community development and natural resource management and development studies more broadly The Open Access version of this book available at www.taylorfrancis.com has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license
