Burnard,Jo Campling,2013-11-11 This is the second edition of a book that I hope continues to be of practical value For counselling must always be that practical No amount of talking on its own can really make a difference if people do not end up doing something as a result of counselling The practical thread remains an important one throughout this edition Counselling Skills for Health Professionals is not just a how to do it book people are probably too complicated for that approach to be of much use Counselling is never simply a matter of learning a range of skills which you then apply in a range of settings In the end counselling is about facing the person in front of you listening to them carefully and then supporting them as they work through their problems For many problems there are no easy answers and counselling doesn't offer any quick fixes It is essentially a supportive process There are many things it cannot do It cannot change certain social and political situations It cannot cure diseases On the other hand what it can do is offer people more hope Often just the fact that there is someone who is prepared to hear your story and to listen to you is all that is needed I remain convinced that the key issue in all types of counselling is the ability to listen Nursing the Surgical Patient Rosemary Pudner,2005-01-01

Discusses all types of surgery so will be applicable to nurse working in all settings where they will encounter patients recovering from surgery The nursing care is underpinned by the relevant research findings to ensure evidence based practice Focuses on nursing role and so is relevant to readers' needs Relevant A P and relevant pathophysiology are covered to aid understanding of the common disorders that require surgical intervention Learning objectives assist study Use of care plans and case studies help relate theory to practice Boxes highlight key points and examples to aid study A full glossary of key terms aids comprehension Summaries of key points aid revision Elsevier website Loss and Bereavement in
