

The background of the slide features several technical architectural drawings in a light tan color. These drawings illustrate various cross-sections of stucco applications, including exterior walls, interior walls, and ceiling details. The drawings show the relationship between the stucco finish, the underlying substrate (like concrete or masonry), and other construction elements such as insulation, vapor barriers, and structural framing. Some drawings show stucco being applied over a curved surface, while others show it in a standard vertical wall application. The lines are clean and precise, typical of architectural blueprints.
