

Vitruvian Man Meets the Scientific Method Writing and Testing Appropriate Hypotheses

Leonardo da Vinci's drawing, Vitruvian Man, shows how the proportions of the human body fit perfectly into a circle and a square. This diagram by Leonardo da Vinci is an illustration of "Vitruvian Theory." According to Vitruvian Theory, the relationship between shapes and lengths (area) should be used to determine what is or isn't right. In this activity, you will explore the hypothesis of "Vitruvian Theory" by developing appropriate responding Vitruvian Man.

1. Hypotheses are general statements that are all observations or events for scientific experiments. A hypothesis is generally a test statement. Formulated by prediction and generally consistent to theoretical theories using its own assumptions. For example:

- (a) If we use blue and red flower structure is added, after about 2 weeks a flower having with a white color, it will open.
- (b) If increasing physical activity (exercise) person or have children and teenagers, then it should lower weight (decrease) of their body.

Formulated hypothesis contains both a dependent variable and independent variable. The independent variable is the one that you change, while dependent variable is the one you observe and measure or collect data. Formulate a hypothesis that says "If the temperature is decreased then the liquid will not freeze (water temperature goes from 4 degrees C to 0 degrees C). In this example, temperature is the independent variable and the dependent variable is that there is no liquid water. However, the time required for temperature being measured. During the collection process the water is tested to check dependent variable (water) is frozen.

PURPOSE

Students will gain understanding of hypothesis regarding Vitruvian Man's related proportions. In that it yields all observations or responses concerning observations, hypothesis and related length.
