Strange True Stories Of Louisiana:

Strange True Stories of Louisiana George Cable,1994-05-30 At the turn of the century people outside of New Orleans viewed the city through the eyes of journalist and author George Washington Cable His writings portrayed a tropical European city nestled on the banks of an American river still teeming with the literary artistic and social developments of a late Renaissance In his own romance with Louisiana Cable came upon many stories written by its denizens While Cable assisted some authors in finding places to publish their works there were many stories he kept for himself Much of this collection can now be found in Strange True Stories of Louisiana They are mine by right of discovery writes Cable From various necessities of the case I am sometimes the story teller and sometimes in the reader s interest have to abridge but I add no fact and trim naught of value away Here are no unconfessed restorations not one In time place circumstance in every essential feature I give them as I got them strange stories that truly happened all partly some wholly in Louisiana Strange True Stories of Louisiana is Cable s compilation of seven unusual factual accounts of life and history in the area They include tales of two French sisters who made the dangerous trek to the unsettled lands of North Louisiana at the beginning of the nineteenth century Focusing on New Orleans Cable adds the story of The Haunted House in Royal Street which spurs the imaginations of ghost hunters more than a century after its original writing There is also a diary account in its first published form of a Union woman trapped behind the battle lines during the Civil War Strange True Stories of Louisiana George Washington Cable,1889 Strange True Stories of Louisiana George Washington Cable,1888 Strange True Stories of Louisiana George Washington Cable,1889 Strange true stories of Louisiana George Washington Cable,1970

relations and experiences of real men and women rarely fall in such symmetrical order as to make an artistic whole Until they have had such treatment as we give stone in the quarry or gems in the rough they seldom group themselves with that harmony of values and brilliant unity of interest that result when art comes in not so much to transcend nature as to make nature transcend herself

Lyle Saxon James W. Thomas,1991 Money for Nothing Sir Pelham Grenville Wodehouse,1952-01-01 The picturesque village of Rudge in the Vale dozed in the summer sunshine Along its narrow High Street the only signs of life visible were a cat stropping its backbone against the Jubilee Watering Trough some flies doing deep breathing exercises on the hot window sills and a little group of serious thinkers who propped up against the wall of the Carmody Arms were waiting for that establishment to open At no time is there ever much doing in Rudge s main thoroughfare but the hour at which a stranger entering it is least likely to suffer the illusion that he has strayed into Broadway Piccadilly or the Rue de Rivoli is at two o clock on a warm afternoon in July You will find Rudge in the Vale if you search carefully in that pleasant section of rural England where the gray stone of Gloucestershire gives place to Worcestershire's old red brick. Quiet in fact almost unconscious it nestles beside the tiny river Skirme and lets the world go by somnolently content with its Norman church its eleven public houses its Pop to quote the Automobile Guide of 3 541 and its only effort in the direction of modern progress the emporium of Chas Bywater Chemist. Chas Bywater is a live wire. He takes no afternoon siesta but works while others sleep. Rudge as a whole is inclined after luncheon to go into the back room put a handkerchief over its face and take things easy for a bit. But not Chas Bywater. At the moment at which this story begins he was all bustle and activity and had just finished selling to Colonel Meredith Wyvern a bottle of Brophy's Paramount Elixir said to be good for gnat bites. Having concluded his purchase Colonel Wyvern would have preferred to leave but Mr Bywater was a man who liked to sweeten trade with pleasant conversation. Moreover this was the first time the Colonel had been inside his shop since that sensational affair up at the Hall two weeks ago and Chas Bywater who held the unofficial position of chief gossip monger to the village was aching to get to the bottom of that. With the bare outline of the story he was of course familiar. Rudge Hall seat of the Carmody family for so many generations contained in its fine old park a number of trees which had been planted somewhere about the reign of Queen Elizabeth. This meant that every now and then one of them would be found to have become a wobbly menace to the passer by so that experts had to be sent for to reduce it with a charge of dynamite to a harmless stump. Well two weeks ago it seems they had blown up one of the Hall's Elizabethan oaks and as near as a toucher Rudge learned had blown up Colonel Wyvern and Mr Carmody with it. The two friends had come walking by just as the expert set fire to the tree and had had a very narrow escape. Thus far the story was common property in the village and had been discussed nightly in the eleven tap rooms of its eleven public houses. But Chas Bywater with his trained nose for news and that sixth sense which had so often enabled him to ferret out the story behind the story when things happen in the upper world of the nobility and gentry could not help feeling that there was more in it than this. He decided to give his customer the opportunity of confiding in him.
