

The background of the cover is a painting of a person in a dark, hooded coat and a pointed hat, seen from behind, walking away from the viewer on a path. To the right is a large, gnarled tree with reddish-brown bark. In the distance, a small town or village is visible under a hazy, orange-tinted sky, suggesting a sunset or sunrise. The overall mood is mysterious and atmospheric.

The Spartan Drama of Plato's Laws Eli Friedland, 2020-02-14 Friedland presents the Laws Plato's longest dialogue as a drama that must be interpreted with close and sustained attention to each of its three characters He argues that Megillos seen by most commentators as the most obtuse character in the dialogue is in fact a man of few words but of surprising capacity for reflection This capacity and the crisis to which it brings him is key to understanding the Laws exploration of human nature permanently drawn both to what is beyond and beneath it The political project outlined in the dialogue with its almost programmatic focus on the mundane is a genuinely philosophical opportunity to consider the relationship between competing demands for human beings between divine and animal nature and also including the always tense but necessary antagonisms and affinities between politics and human sexuality
