Timeline: A timeline focuses on facts about a person's life.

Autobiography

Example: "I was born on March 1, 2000, in a town in Ohio."

Read each sentence below. Determine if it should be a fact or a feeling. Cut out the strip and glue it in the appropriate column.

During the summer of 2000, I attended my first overnight camp, where I learned how to kayak and build a campfire.	I remember watching the news on TV about the events of 9/11 and how everyone was sad and scared.
One time I stood in line in front of our school, my hands trembled, but by the end of the day I felt better.	I attended the 9/11 Memorial Service through our grade before transferring to a middle school across town.

Thurgood Marshall, Counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, reported very negative of desegregation.

Board of Education* James Anderson, Dara N. Byrne, 2008-04-21 Praise for The Unfinished Agenda of Brown V Board of Education My father Oliver L Brown for whom Brown v Board of Education is named was a proud member of a group of a few hundred people across the country who took risks by taking a stand for what they believed He died in 1961 just seven years after the case so he didn t live long enough to know that Brown would become the foundation on which so much of this country s civil and human rights initiatives would rest Brown v Board became important for every citizen not just African Americans It shows that the founding documents of our country provided us with sovereign rights that cannot be restricted by state and local governments That decision impacted the lives of women persons with disabilities blacks whites Hispanics Asians and everyone living in this country Brown was significant in attacking the silence It opened up a dialogue and forced the country to take on greater responsibility we at every level had to start addressing the issue of race In many ways once the dialogue started we finally began to under stand the depths of racism This case was about gaining access to educational resources the resources were and remain where the white children are The Unfinished Agenda of Brown v Board of Education is about renewing and continuing the promise of Brown Cheryl Brown Henderson president of the Brown Foundation for Educational Equity Excellence and Research and daughter of Oliver L Brown one of the thirteen plaintiffs in Brown v Board of Education

Teaching Women's History Through Literature Kay A. Chick, 2008

Social Studies & the Young Learner, 2001

Fictions of Integration Naomi Lesley, 2017-03-03 This book examines how children's and young adult literature addresses and interrogates the legacies of American school desegregation. Such literature narrates not only the famous battles to implement desegregation in the South in places like Little Rock, Arkansas, but also more insidious and less visible legacies such as re-segregation within schools through the mechanism of disability diagnosis. Novelizations of children's experiences with school desegregation comment upon the politics of getting African American children access to white schools, but more than this, as school stories, they also comment upon how structural racism operates in the classroom and mutates over the course of decades through the pedagogical practices depicted in literature for young readers. Lesley combines approaches from critical race theory, disability studies, and educational philosophy in order to investigate how the educational market simultaneously constrains how racism in schools can be presented to young readers and also provides channels for radical critiques of pedagogy and visions of alternative systems. The volume examines a range of titles from novels that directly engage the Brown v. Board of Education decision, such as Sharon Draper's Fire From the Rock and Dorothy Sterling's Mary Jane, to novels that engage less obvious legacies of desegregation, such as Cynthia Voigt's Dacey's Song, Sharon Flake's Pinned, Virginia Hamilton's The Planet of Junior Brown, and Louis Sachar's Holes. This book will be of interest to scholars of American studies, children's literature, and educational philosophy and history.

A Time to Act Shana Corey, 2017-04-04 The time has come for this nation to fulfill its promise. John F. Kennedy was born one hundred years ago. As America's thirty-fifth president, he often took bold actions, establishing a peace corps and challenging Americans to land on the moon. But on civil rights, it took the urging and the example of other courageous people, leaders such as Martin Luther King Jr. and Jackie Robinson, and even students and children to help him realize that the time to act was now. On June 11, 1963, Kennedy's big speech, his civil rights address, was a game changer, and his efforts laid the groundwork for the Civil Rights Act of 1964, but our country's work is not finished.

Haas, 2005 Discusses flexible strategies for teaching today's diverse learner, the structure of the knowledge to be learned, how to help students reconstruct and present ideas, and how to translate theory and recent research into lesson plans and units.
