Martin,2016-09-30 In the twenty first century American popular culture increasingly makes visible the performance of African spirituality by black women Disney s Princess and the Frog and Pirates of the Caribbean franchise are two notable examples The reliance on the black priestess of African derived religion as an archetype however has a much longer history steeped in the colonial othering of Haitian Vodou and American imperialist fantasies about so called black magic Within this cinematic study Martin unravels how religious autonomy impacts the identity function and perception of Africana women in the American popular imagination Martin interrogates seventy five years of American film representations of black women engaged in conjure hoodoo obeah or Voodoo to discern what happens when race gender and African spirituality collide She develops the framework of Voodoo aesthetics or the inscription of African cosmologies on the black female body as the theoretical lens through which to scrutinize black female religious performance in film Martin places the genre of film in conversation with black feminist womanist criticism offering an interdisciplinary approach to film analysis Positioning the black priestess as another iteration of Patricia Hill Collins notion of controlling images Martin theorizes whether film functions as a safe space for a racial and gendered embodiment in the performance of African diasporic religion Approaching the close reading of eight signature films from a black female spectatorship Martin works chronologically to express the trajectory of the black priestess as cinematic motif over the last century of filmmaking Conceptually Martin recalibrates the scholarship on black women and representation by distinctly centering black women as ritual specialists and Black Atlantic spirituality on the silver screen Global NATO and the Catastrophic Failure in Libya Horace Campbell,2013-03-01 In this incisive account scholar Horace Campbell investigates the political and economic crises of the early twenty first century through the prism of NATO s intervention in Libya He traces the origins of the conflict situates it in the broader context of the Arab Spring uprisings and explains the expanded role of a post Cold War NATO This military organization he argues is the instrument through which the capitalist class of North America and Europe seeks to impose its political will on the rest of the world however warped by the increasingly outmoded neoliberal form of capitalism The intervention in Libya characterized by bombing campaigns military information operations third party countries and private contractors exemplifies this new model Campbell points out that while political elites in the West were quick to celebrate the intervention in Libya as a success the NATO campaign caused many civilian deaths and destroyed the nation s infrastructure Furthermore the instability it unleashed in the forms of militias and terrorist groups have only begun to be reckoned with as the United States learned when its embassy was attacked and personnel including the ambassador were killed Campbell s lucid study is essential reading for anyone seeking to understand this complex and weighty course of events The Social Studies ,1916
