SECTION A

RECONSTRUCTION OF THE PAST

The study of history is a constantly changing business. R. Cunningham's view of history is that it is not the study of a special class of facts but rather it is the study of all views from a certain point. The task of a historian is to cover every aspect of history, i.e. social, economic and political rather than studying non-individuals.

The historians are concerned with how people of the past made their living. History shares ground with archaeology, geography, psychology, economics, sociology and anthropology. Elton says that historians study history in order to inquire on the past to see whether these studies have anything to offer to the future. The first homework of a historian therefore is to select his facts. J. Tosh argues that facts are not given but they are selected and given meaning by interpretation. A historian must therefore make sure that what he is writing makes sense. A good historian is able to select facts, explain and interpret them.

SOURCES OF HISTORY USED IN RECOVERING ZIMBABWE'S PRE-COLONIAL HISTORY

There are three major sources used by historians in the reconstruction of pre-colonial history of Zimbabwe. These are oral tradition, written records and archaeology. The other sources include linguistics, anthropology, botany, rock paintings and ethnography.

[1] Oral Tradition

-It is the information which is passed from generation to generation by the word of mouth. It is the oldest way and perhaps the most popular in recording African history. Oral tradition is sometimes called unwritten history. Oral tradition can be in form of praise poems and songs telling the heroic deeds of an ancestor, a clan or a whole community of people. Songs and poems are fairly reliable sources of oral tradition hence it is useful although it can be distorted, forgotten or exaggerated. Oral traditions are verbal testimonies which may refer to king lists, succession, migrations of people, wars and so on. This source of history is fundamental in the reconstruction of prehistory of Zimbabwe and assist historians with information they would not otherwise be able to acquire.

-Oral tradition was used during the pre-colonial era because most Africans were not able to write and written records hardly existed. Oral tradition is the only source which can bring one very close to pre-colonial Zimbabwean history. It is the backbone of all other sources. Other sources depend on oral tradition. Oral tradition becomes the starting point without which makes the reconstruction of the past very difficult. Archaeology and written records come in as complementary sources. Archaeology and written records provide a deeper analysis of the Zimbabwean past.

Usefulness of Oral Tradition in recovering Zimbabwe's pre-colonial history

-Oral tradition has been extremely useful in providing information about the foundation of the Great Zimbabwe state. Shona traditions speak of the ancestors of the Shona as the builders of stone walls at Great Zimbabwe and many other sites around and outside present day Zimbabwe. It corrects the myths spread by Euro-centrists of the 19th and 20th Centuries who

The Colonial Past in History Textbooks Karel Van Nieuwenhuyse, Joaquim Pires Valentim, 2018-05-01 This book examines the evolving representations of the colonial past from the mid 19th century up to decolonization in the 1960s and 70s the so called era of Modern Imperialism in post war history textbooks from across the world The aim of the book is to examine the evolving outlook of colonial representations in history education and the underpinning explanations for the specific outlook in different former colonizer and colonized countries to be found in collective memory popular historical culture social representations identity building processes and the state of historical knowledge within academia The approach of the book is novel and innovative in different ways First of all given the complexity of the research an original interdisciplinary approach has been implemented which brings together historians history educators and social psychologists to examine representations of colonialism in history education in different countries around the world while drawing on different theoretical frameworks Secondly given the interest in the interplay between collective memory popular historical culture social representations and the state of historical knowledge within academia a diachronic approach is implemented examining the evolving representations of the colonial past and connecting them to developments within society at large and academia This will allow for a deeper understanding of the processes under examination Thirdly studies from various corners of the world are included in the book More specifically the project includes research from three categories of countries former colonizer countries including England Spain Italy France Portugal and Belgium countries having been both colonized and colonizer Chile and former colonized countries including Zimbabwe Malta and Mozambique This selection allows pairing up the countries under review as former colonizing colonized ones for instance Portugal Mozambique United Kingdom Malta allowing for an in depth comparison between the countries involved Before reaching the research core three introductory chapters outline three general issues The book starts with addressing the different approaches and epistemological underpinnings history and social psychology as academic disciplines hold In a second chapter evolutions within international academic colonial historiography are analyzed with a special focus on the recent development of New Imperial History A third chapter analyses history textbooks as cultural tools and political means of transmitting historical knowledge and representations across generations The next ten chapters form the core of the book in which evolving representations of colonial history from mid 19th century until decolonization in the 1960s and 1970s are examined explained and reflected upon for the above mentioned countries This is done through a history textbook analysis in a diachronic perspective For some countries the analysis dates back to textbooks published after the Second World War for other countries the focus will be more limited in time The research presented is done by historians and history educators as well as by social psychologists In a concluding chapter an overall overview is presented in which similarities and differences throughout the case studies are identified interpreted and reflected upon

(Re)Constructing Memory: Textbooks, Identity, Nation, and State James

H. Williams, Wendy D. Bokhorst-Heng, 2016-07-08 This book engages readers in thirteen conversations presented by authors from around the world regarding the role that textbooks play in helping readers imagine membership in the nation. Authors' voices come from a variety of contexts: some historical, some contemporary, some providing analyses over time. But they all consider the changing portrayal of diversity, belonging, and exclusion in multiethnic and diverse societies where silenced, invisible, marginalized members have struggled to make their voices heard and to have their identities incorporated into the national narrative. The authors discuss portrayals of past exclusions around religion, ethnicity, sexual orientation, as they look at the shifting boundaries of insider and outsider. This book is thus about who we are, not only demographically but also in terms of the past, especially how and whether we teach discredited pasts through textbooks. The concluding chapters provide ways forward in thinking about what can be done to promote curricula that are more inclusive, critical, and positively bonding in increasingly larger and more inclusive contexts. History Gr11 L/b, States and the Making of Others Jeanne

Bouyat, Amandine Le Bellec, Lucas Puygrenier, 2024-06-17 This volume offers a unique interdisciplinary and comparative perspective on contemporary processes of othering by state institutions in relation to dynamics of racism, xenophobia, sexism, homo transphobia, as well as ethnic and class-based discriminations. It focuses on eight original case studies empirically grounded in various domains of the social state in Southern African and Western European contexts: the education and health care systems, the regulation of work and of procreation rights, and institutions in charge of granting asylum. The authors provide key insights on how states produce Others and on how othering contributes in turn to the process of state formation and the politicization of public action. The Palgrave Handbook of History and Social Studies Education Christopher

W. Berg, Theodore M. Christou, 2020-04-03 This Handbook presents an international collection of essays examining history education past and present. Framing recent curriculum reforms in Canada and in the United States in light of a century-long debate between the relationship between theory and practice, this collection contextualizes the debate by exploring the evolution of history and social studies education within their state or national contexts. With contributions ranging from Canada, Finland, New Zealand, Sweden, the Netherlands, the Republic of South Africa, the United Kingdom, and the United States, chapters illuminate the ways in which curriculum theorists and academic researchers are working with curriculum developers and educators to translate and refine notions of historical thinking or inquiry as well as pedagogical practice.

Versions of Zimbabwe. New Approaches to Literature and Culture Robert Muponde, Ranka Primorac, 2005-06-15 The book is the result of a collaboration of scholars from southern Africa and overseas whose work emphasises hitherto overshadowed subjects of literature, exposing new and untried approaches to Zimbabwean writing. The contributors focus on pluralities, inclusiveness, and the breaking of boundaries, and elucidate how literary texts are betraying multiple versions and opinions of Zimbabwe, arguing that only a multiplicity of opinions on Zimbabwe can do the complexity of the society and history justice.

The Palgrave Handbook of Conflict and History Education in the Post-Cold War Era Luigi Cajani, Simone Lässig, Maria

Repoussi,2019-06-28 This Handbook provides a systematic and analytical approach to the various dimensions of international ethnic and domestic conflict over the uses of national history in education since the end of the Cold War With an upsurge in political social and cultural upheaval particularly since the fall of state socialism in Europe the importance of history textbooks and curricula as tools for influencing the outlooks of entire generations is thrown into sharp relief Using case studies from 58 countries this book explores how history education has had the potential to shape political allegiances and collective identities The contributors highlight the key issues over which conflict has emerged including the legacies of socialism and communism war dictatorships and genocide issues which frequently point to tensions between adhering to and challenging the idea of a cohesive national identity and historical narrative Global in scope the Handbook will appeal to a diverse academic audience including historians political scientists educationists psychologists sociologists and scholars working in the field of cultural and media studies National Healing, Integration and Reconciliation in Zimbabwe Ezra

TEXTBOOK OF ANIMAL BEHAVIOUR, FOURTH EDITION MANDAL, FATIK BARAN, 2025-02-01 This well accepted book now in its Fourth Edition is a need based extension of the previous book The text is further enriched with more information to understand animal behaviour coherently and scientifically In the new edition the book introduces its readers with the recent topics such as eusociality social learning imitation ritualization mating sexual cannibalism gravireception and magnetoreception The book attempts to provide a reasonably suitable account of animal behaviour for undergraduate and postgraduate students Although the behaviour of animals has fascinated people for a long time behavioural biology has been introduced into syllabi very recently The study of behaviour received its important boost from the work of Charles Darwin who used the term instinct to refer to the natural behaviour of animals In the 1930s a comprehensive theory of animal behaviour emerged through the work of Konrad Lorenz and later by Niko Tinbergen Biological study of behaviour in fact came of age as a science when Lorenz Tinbergen and Karl von Frisch received the Nobel Prize for their contribution to science Observing and describing exactly what animals do is fascinating and scientific analysis of their behaviour is significant for several reasons Each species tends to have an array of stereotyped behaviours some of which are shared with related species but others are unique Ecology natural selection macroevolution microevolution and genes constitute the foundation of animal behaviour Various animal groups exhibit diverse strategies for survival and reproduction which are discussed in this book

Language Narratives and Shifting Multilingual Pedagogies Belinda Mendelowitz, Ana Ferreira, Kerry Dixon, 2022-12-15 Winner of the UKLA Academic Book Award 2024 This book challenges monoglossic ideologies traditional language pedagogies and dominant forms of knowledge construction by foregrounding multilingual and multicultural students language narratives repertoires and identities The research is based on a sixteen year longitudinal study of a sociolinguistics course at an English language university and the language narratives produced by the first year education students The study was borne out of a need to create a critically inclusive course that would engage a cohort of students from socially and linguistically diverse backgrounds in contemporary South Africa Drawing on data from over 5 000 students who have journeyed through this course this book shows how a narrative heteroglossic pedagogy harnesses students multilingual strengths A close analysis reveals complex identity work by students located in the Global South The authors argue that decolonising language education is about reconceptualising language reconfiguring what knowledges are valued in the classroom and reshaping pedagogy

Lies My Teacher Told Me James W. Loewen, 2018-07-17 Every teacher every student of history every citizen should read this book It is both a refreshing antidote to what has passed for history in our educational system and a one volume education in itself Howard Zinn A new edition of the national bestseller and American Book Award winner with a new preface by the author Since its first publication in 1995 Lies My Teacher Told Me has become one of the most important and successful history books of our time Having sold nearly two million copies the book also won an American Book Award and the Oliver Cromwell Cox Award for Distinguished Anti Racist Scholarship and was heralded on the front page of the New York Times For this new edition Loewen has added a new preface that shows how inadequate history courses in high school help produce adult Americans who think Donald Trump can solve their problems and calls out academic historians for abandoning the concept of truth in a misguided effort to be objective What started out as a survey of the twelve leading American history textbooks has ended up being what the San Francisco Chronicle calls an extremely convincing plea for truth in education In Lies My Teacher Told Me James W Loewen brings history alive in all its complexity and ambiguity Beginning with pre Columbian history and ranging over characters and events as diverse as Reconstruction Helen Keller the first Thanksgiving the My Lai massacre 9 11 and the Iraq War Loewen offers an eye opening critique of existing textbooks and a wonderful retelling of American history as it should and could be taught to American students

Mobility in Contemporary Zimbabwean Literature in English Magdalena Pfalzgraf, 2021-06-29 This monograph explores the concept of mobility in Zimbabwean works of fiction published in English between the introduction of the controversial Fast Track Land Reform Programme and the end of the Mugabe era Since 2000 Zimbabwe has experienced unprecedented levels of transnational out migration in response to the political conflicts and economic downturn often referred to as the Zimbabwe Crisis This in turn has led to an increased outpouring of literary texts about migration both in locally produced texts and in works by authors based in the diaspora Situating Zimbabwe's recent literary developments in a wider context of Southern African writing and history this book focuses on texts that portray movement within Zimbabwe's cities between village and city to South Africa and overseas The author examines important developments and trends in recent Zimbabwean literature investigating the link between state authoritarianism and control of mobility and literature's potential to intervene into dominant political discourses The book includes in depth analyses of ten recent works of fiction published in the post 2000 era and develops mobility as a key category of literary analysis of Zimbabwe's contemporary literatures Setting out a rich dialogue between literary criticism and mobility studies this book will be of interest to researchers of African literature Southern Africa migration and mobility
