

Specialty Needles

These needles are configured to handle special threads, fabrics, or sewing tasks.

NEEDLE TYPE	USES	CONFIGURATION	TROUBLESHOOTING
TOPSTITCHING 	Topstitching	This wide acute point, wide eye, and large groove for heavy thread.	Use smallest size needle that accommodates your thread to avoid puncturing large holes or tears.
EMBROIDERY 	Machine embroidery or embroidering with decorative thread	This right-point needle sharp on fullpoint, and enlarged eye to keep decorative threads from stretching or breaking and to prevent skipped stitches.	If thread still breaks or forms a heavily stretched strand, use larger size needle or variable needle.
METALLIC 	Sewing with decorative metallic threads	This universal or rounded point, large, elongated eye, and large groove to allow bigger metallic and synthetic filament threads to flow smoothly.	Metallic threads are very sensitive to problems in machines. Use brand type or thread path or needle can cause problems.
QUILTING (STIFFLING) 	Pinning, quilting, and stitching	This special tapered shaft is ground sharpening fabric when stitching multiple layers.	Allow fabric, smoothly without pulling on needle when free-motion stitching to prevent breaking needle.
HEMSTITCH (WING) 	Hemstitching or fastener embroidery on linen and fabrics	This flat on sides of shaft to support fabric as you sew.	Edging is more effective when needle returns to space needle takes more than once. If needle catches fabric, add machine just deeper under fabric.
TRIN (DOUBLE) 	Topstitching, pinlocking, and decorative stitching	Two needles on single shaft produce two parallel rows of stitches. Maximum distance between needles ranges from 1.2 mm to 6 mm, and needles come with universal, sharp, embroidery, denim, and metallic points.	Be sure thread path allows for distance between needles. Check the machine manual to determine what all this can be used with this needle.
TRIPLE 	Denim uses, as for double needle	Close for on single shaft creates three parallel rows of stitches. Maximum distance between needles ranges from 1.2 mm to 3 mm width.	Same as for double needle.
SPRINGS 	Free-motion stitching with draped and draped	This wide spring allows points to prevent fabric from rising up under needle, eliminating need for presser foot and protecting fingers.	Before using, practice free-motion stitching with heavy zipper needle, zipper, and draped two ways. Don't put paper/paper, instead gently guide it through stitching. When spring glances for free-motion work, your needles often break.
