Three Day Road:

Three Day Road Joseph Boyden, 2006-04-25 Set in Canada and the battlefields of France and Belgium Three Day Road is a mesmerizing novel told through the eyes of Niska a Canadian Oji Cree woman living off the land who is the last of a line of healers and diviners and her nephew Xavier At the urging of his friend Elijah a Cree boy raised in reserve schools Xavier joins the war effort Shipped off to Europe when they are nineteen the boys are marginalized from the Canadian soldiers not only by their native appearance but also by the fine marksmanship that years of hunting in the bush has taught them Both become snipers renowned for their uncanny accuracy But while Xavier struggles to understand the purpose of the war and to come to terms with his conscience for the many lives he has ended Elijah becomes obsessed with killing taking great risks to become the most accomplished sniper in the army Eventually the harrowing and bloody truth of war takes its toll on the two friends in different profound ways Intertwined with this account is the story of Niska who herself has borne witness to a lifetime of death the death of her people In part inspired by the legend of Francis Pegahmagabow the great Indian sniper of World War I Three Day Road is an impeccably researched and beautifully written story that offers a searing reminder about the cost of war

Three Day Road Joseph Boyden, 2005 It is 1919 and Niska an Oji Cree medicine woman has left her home in the bush of northern Ontario to receive Xavier Bird her only relation who has returned from the trenches of Europe Gravely wounded and addicted to morphine Xavier recounts how he and his best friend Elijah Whiskeyjack prowled the battlefields as snipers of enormous skill and how the circumstances of their deadly craft led them to very different fates Told with unblinking focus this is a stunning tale of brutality survival and rebirth that marks the arrival of a prodigious new talent From the bookjacket

Summarized and Analyzed: Three Day Road Student World, 2017-06-16 Before telling about the novel it is important to note that Joseph Boyden the author of the present novel had grown up listening to the war stories from his maternal grandfather and an uncle from his father's side Both of these relatives had fought in the First World War and they had several stories to tell The author's father was also a Second World War veteran and he had many stories to tell his son The present novel according to the author draws upon several family narratives

Three Day Road Joseph Boyden, 2006-04-25 Set in Canada and the battlefields of France and Belgium Three Day Road is a mesmerizing novel told through the eyes of Niska a Canadian Oji Cree woman living off the land who is the last of a line of healers and diviners and her nephew Xavier At the urging of his friend Elijah a Cree boy raised in reserve schools Xavier joins the war effort Shipped off to Europe when they are nineteen the boys are marginalized from the Canadian soldiers not only by their native appearance but also by the fine marksmanship that years of hunting in the bush has taught them Both become snipers renowned for their uncanny accuracy But while Xavier struggles to understand the purpose of the war and to come to terms with his conscience for the many lives he has ended Elijah becomes obsessed with killing taking great risks to become the most accomplished sniper in the army Eventually the harrowing and bloody truth of war takes its toll on the two friends in different profound ways Intertwined with this account is the story of Niska who herself has borne witness to a lifetime of death the death of her people In part inspired by the legend of Francis Pegahmagabow the great Indian sniper of World War I Three Day Road is an impeccably researched and beautifully written story that offers a searing reminder about the cost of war Catching the Torch Neta Gordon,2014-03-25

Catching the Torch examines contemporary novels and plays written about Canada's participation in World War I Exploring such works as Jane Urquhart's The Underpainter and The Stone Carvers Jack Hodgins's Broken Ground Kevin Kerr's Unity 1918 Stephen Massicotte's Mary's Wedding and Frances Itani's Deafening the book considers how writers have dealt with the compelling myth that the Canadian nation was born in the trenches of the Great War In contrast to British and European remembrances of WWI which tend to regard it as a cataclysmic destroyer of innocence or Australian myths that promote an ideal of outsize masculinity physical bravery and white superiority contemporary Canadian texts conjure up notions of distinctively Canadian values tolerance of ethnic difference the ability to do one's duty without complaint or arrogance and the inclination to show moral as well as physical courage Paradoxically Canadians are shown to decry the horrors of war while making use of its productive cultural effects Through a close analysis of the way sacrifice service and the commemoration of war are represented in these literary works Catching the Torch argues that iterations of a secure mythic notion of national identity one that is articulated via the representation of straightforward civic and military participation work to counter current anxieties about the stability of the nation state in particular anxieties about the failure of the ideal of a national character Carnivalizing Reconciliation

Hanna Teichler,2021-10-15 Transitional justice and national inquiries may be the most established means for coming to terms with traumatic legacies but it is in the more subtle social and cultural processes of memory work that the pitfalls and promises of reconciliation are laid bare This book analyzes within the realms of literature and film recent Australian and Canadian attempts to reconcile with Indigenous populations in the wake of forced child removal As Hanna Teichler demonstrates their systematic emphasis on the subjectivity of the victim is problematic reproducing simplistic narratives and identities defined by victimization Such fictions of reconciliation venture beyond simplistic narratives and identities defined by victimization offering new opportunities for confronting painful histories Daily Graphic Yaw reflecting King's pioneering work on Indian poetry in English and his many friendships National Plots Andrea Cabajsky, Brett Josef Grubisic, 2010-07-09 Fiction that reconsiders challenges reshapes and or upholds national narratives of history has long been an integral aspect of Canadian literature Works by writers of historical fiction from early practitioners such as John Richardson to contemporary figures such as Alice Munro and George Elliott Clarke propose new views and understandings of Canadian history and individual relationships to it Critical evaluation of these works sheds light on the complexity of these depictions The contributors in National Plots Historical Fiction and Changing Ideas of Canada critically examine texts with subject matter ranging from George Vancouver's west coast explorations to the eradication of the Beothuk in Newfoundland Reflecting diverse methodologies and theoretical approaches the essays seek to explicate depictions of the historical in individual texts and to explore larger questions relating to historical fiction as a genre with complex and divergent political motivations and goals Although the topics of the essays vary widely as a whole the collection raises and answers questions about the significance of the roles historical fiction has played within Canadian culture for nearly two centuries Red Scare Joanne Barker, 2021-12-03 How the rhetoric of terrorism has been used against high profile movements to justify the oppression and suppression of Indigenous activists New Indigenous movements are gaining traction in North America the Missing and Murdered Women and Idle No More movements in Canada and the Native Lives Matter and NoDAPL movements in the United States These do not represent new demands for social justice and treaty rights which Indigenous groups have sought for centuries But owing to the extraordinary visibility of contemporary activism Indigenous people have been newly cast as terrorists a designation that justifies severe measures of policing exploitation and violence Red Scare investigates the intersectional scope of these four movements and the broader context of the treatment of Indigenous social justice movements as threats to neoliberal and imperialist social orders In Red Scare Joanne Barker shows how US and Canadian leaders leverage the fear driven discourses of terrorism to allow for extreme responses to Indigenous activists framing them as threats to social stability and national security The alignment of Indigenous movements with broader struggles against sexual police and environmental violence puts them at the forefront of new intersectional solidarities in prominent ways The activist as terrorist framing is cropping up everywhere but the historical and political complexities of Indigenous movements and state responses are unique Indigenous criticisms of state policy resource extraction and contamination intense surveillance and neoliberal values are met with outsized and shocking measures of militarized policing environmental harm and sexual violence Red Scare provides students and readers with a concise and thorough survey of these movements and their links to broader organizing the common threads of historical violence against Indigenous people and the relevant alternatives we can find in Indigenous forms of governance and relationality Great Lakes Island Escapes Maureen Dunphy, 2016-05-16 A comprehensive travelogue and guidebook exploring island adventures on many of the 135 islands accessible by ferry or bridge in the Great Lakes Basin The Great Lakes Basin is the largest surface freshwater system on Earth The more than 30 000 islands dotted throughout the basin provide some of the best ways to enjoy the Great Lakes While the vast majority of these islands can only be reached by private boat or plane a surprising number of islands each with its own character and often harboring more than a bit of intrigue in its history can be reached by merely taking a ferry ride or crossing a bridge offering everyone the chance to experience a variety of island adventures Great Lakes Island Escapes Ferries and Bridges to Adventure explores in depth over 30 of the Great Lakes Basin islands accessible by bridge or ferry and introduces more than 50 additional islands Thirty eight chapters include helpful information about getting to each featured island what to expect when you get there the island s history and what natural and historical sites and cultural attractions are available to visitors Each chapter lists special island events where to get more island information and how readers can help support the island Author Maureen Dunphy made numerous trips to a total of 135 islands that are accessible by ferry or bridge in the Great Lakes Basin On each trip Dunphy was accompanied by a different friend or relative who provided her another adventurer s perspective through which to view the island experience Great Lakes Island Escapes covers islands on both sides of the international border between the United States and Canada and features islands in both the lakes and the waterways that connect them Anyone interested in island travel or learning more about the Great Lakes will delight in this comprehensive collection

The Great War in Post-Memory Literature and Film Martin Löschnigg, Marzena Sokolowska-Paryz, 2014-10-14 The twenty seven original contributions to this volume investigate the ways in which the First World War has been commemorated and represented internationally in prose fiction drama film docudrama and comics from the 1960s until the present The volume thus provides a comprehensive survey of the cultural memory of the war as reflected in various media across national cultures addressing the complex connections between the cultural post memory of the war and its mediation In four sections the essays investigate 1 the cultural legacy of the Great War including its mythology and iconography 2 the implications of different forms and media for representing the war 3 national memories foregrounding the differences in post memory representations and interpretations of the Great War and 4 representations of the Great War within larger temporal or spatial frameworks focusing specifically on the ideological dimensions of its remembrance in historical socio political gender oriented and post colonial contexts

War Memories Stéphanie A.H. Bélanger, Renée Dickason, 2017-05-31 War Memories explores the patchwork formed by collective memory public remembrance private recollection and the ways in which they form a complex composition of observations initiatives and experiences Offering an international perspective on war commemoration contributors consider the process of assembling historical facts and subjective experiences to show how these points of view diverge according to various social cultural political and historical perspectives Encompassing the representations of wars in the English speaking world over the last hundred years this collection presents an extensive yet integrated reflection on various types of commemoration and interpretations of events Essays respond to common questions regarding war memory how and why do we remember war

What does commemoration tell us about the actors in wars How does commemoration reflect contemporary society s culture of war War Memories disseminates current knowledge on the performance interpretation and rewriting of facts and events during and after wars while focusing on how patriotic fervour resistance conscientious objection injury trauma and propaganda contribute to the shaping of individual and collective memory Contributors include Joan Beaumont Australian National University Canberra Gilles Chamerois University of Brest France Subarno Chattarji University of Delhi India Nicole Cloarec Rennes 1 University France Corinne David Ives European University of Brittany Rennes 2 France Jeffrey Demsky San Bernardino Valley College California Sam Edwards Manchester Metropolitan University Georges Fournier Jean Moulin University France Annie Gagiano University of Stellenbosch South Africa David Haigron Rennes 2 University France Judith Keene University of Sydney Australia Melissa King San Bernardino Valley College California Christine Knauer Eberhard Karls University T bingen Germany Liliane Louvel University of Poitiers Michelle P Moore Canadian Army Doctrine and Training Centre Kingston Ontario John Mullen University of Rouen France Lorie Anne Duech Rainville Caen University France Elizabeth Rechniewski Australian Research Council Discovery Project Rapha l Ricaud University Paris Ouest Nanterre La D fense France Laura Robinson Royal Military College of Canada and Isabelle Roblin Universit du Littoral C te d Opale France

Reading Beyond the Book Danielle Fuller,DeNel Rehberg Sedo,2013 This volume offers the first critical analysis of mass reading events and the contemporary meanings of reading in the UK USA and Canada based on original interviews and surveys with readers and event organisers The authors interrogate the enduring attraction of an old technology for readers community organizers and government agencies exploring the social practices inspired by the sharing of books in public spaces and revealing the complex ideological investments made by readers cultural workers institutions and the mass media in the meanings of reading Recruiting News ,1933 U.S. Army Recruiting News United States.
