Narratives of Qualitative Research Josh Tenenbergh, 2024-05-21 Narratives of Qualitative Research uses a novel form of writing about how to do qualitative research called a praxis narrative Each narrative is told from the author's perspective in carrying out one of his past research studies in the social sciences Told chronologically and in a first person voice the narratives position the reader alongside the narrator so as to vicariously experience how research happens in its situated particulars Rather than a set of idealizations and universalized pronouncements the author reveals what really goes on when one is in the thick of complex and challenging research studies the points of trouble along with the successes This will be relevant to researchers who have already undertaken one or more empirical research studies though not necessarily using qualitative approaches and now find themselves facing something new a new analytic method a new theoretical lens a new form of data collection a new domain of research questions a new rhetorical approach This requires letting go of the secure handholds of prescribed methods and responding to the contingencies that arise in the midst of the research The reader is invited to follow along as the author makes visible his praxis of qualitative research Unlike more conventional texts in this unique alternative the reader can follow the author's journey through his research studies as a way to reorient their conception of qualitative research and their own praxis of it This is fascinating reading for qualitative researchers and students taking qualitative research courses across the social sciences education and behavioural sciences

Immersive Journalism as Storytelling Turo Uskali, Astrid Gynnild, Sarah Jones, Esa Sirkkunen, 2021-01-12 This book sets out cutting edge new research and examines future prospects on 360 degree video virtual reality VR and augmented reality AR in journalism analyzing and discussing virtual world experiments from a range of perspectives Featuring contributions from a diverse range of scholars Immersive Journalism as Storytelling highlights both the opportunities and the challenges presented by this form of storytelling The book discusses how immersive journalism has the potential to reach new audiences change the way stories are told and provide more interactivity within the news industry. Aside from generating deeper emotional reactions and global perspectives, the book demonstrates how it can also diversify and upskill the news industry. Further contributions address the challenges examining how immersive storytelling calls for reassessing issues of journalism ethics and truthfulness, transparency, privacy, manipulation, and surveillance, and questioning what it means to cover reality when a story is told in virtual reality. Chapters are grounded in empirical data such as content analyses and expert interviews alongside insightful case studies that discuss Euronews Nonny de la Peña's Project Syria and The New York Times NYTVR application. This book is written for journalism teachers, educators, and students, as well as scholars, politicians, lawmakers, and citizens with an interest in emerging technologies for media practice. Flower World - Mundo Florido Mark Howell, Matthias Stockli, Arnd Adje Both, 2015-12-31. The bilingual series Flower World: Music Archaeology of the Americas raises the study of ancient music and music-related activities of the pre-Columbian Americas to the next level. For the first time in the history of science, a series offering anthologies featuring scientific investigations in this fascinating multidisciplinary field is available. The series encompasses peer reviewed studies by renowned scholars on both past and living music traditions from South Central and North America and thus constitute a platform for the most up to date information on the music archaeology of the continent. It features case studies and the results of research projects in the field in which a great variety of music archaeological approaches such as conventional archaeology for the interpretation of the find contexts, experimental archaeology for reconstructive instrument making and playing, ethnohistory and ethnolinguistics for the interpretation of textual sources, music iconology for the interpretation of visual sources, organology and acoustics and ethnomusicology for the research on contemporary legacies for the study of the instrument finds are commonly applied. The title of the series Flower World refers to a mythological even sacred place filled with the sweet scent of flowers, bird calls, pleasant sounds and dance. It is a place full of happiness and joy even if it belongs to the realm of the Dead which sustains the enduring renewal of life on earth.

Corpus Linguistics and Cross-Disciplinary Action Research Joanna Baumgart, 2021-11-29. In this book Joanna Baumgart offers a detailed and innovative account of how a mixed methods approach combining corpus linguistics and discourse analysis can shed light on educational practice. Corpus Linguistics and Cross Disciplinary Action Research is based on a 22 000 word corpus of mathematics lessons in a multicultural secondary school in Ireland with the analysis of classroom data supported by insights from reflective meetings with the participating teacher. It demonstrates how examination of video recordings of lessons and reflective conversations facilitate discursive changes in the classroom and increase teacher awareness of classroom interaction. Throughout the role of teacher talk is used as a model in the subject specific discourse into which students are socialized. Baumgart also relates the story of a successful interdisciplinary approach to action research thereby providing an example of how talk and interaction can be examined within wider educational contexts. Building on the premise of the key role which language and talk in particular plays in teaching and learning processes, this book will be of keen interest to teacher educators as well as researchers in the fields of corpus linguistics, discourse analysis and educational linguistics.

Performativity and the Representation of Memory: Resignification, Appropriation, and Embodiment Dinis, Frederico, 2024-08-21. The age of digital culture has not only brought significant transformations in how we perceive memory, history and heritage but it has also raised pressing questions about authenticity and ownership of memory. The role of digital technologies in shaping collective identities is a topic of intense scrutiny. Moreover, contemporary societies grapple with complex issues in the politics of memory, especially with the proliferation of diverse narratives and the manipulation of public spaces. The book's content is therefore highly relevant, offering critical reflection and scholarly analysis to these societal challenges. Performativity and the Representation of Memory: Resignification, Appropriation, and Embodiment offers a comprehensive exploration of these issues, examining how contemporary practices of re-enactment intersect with digital contexts to shape our understanding of memory and heritage. The book analyzes the processes of memory creation and transmission in digital environments, providing a nuanced understanding of how memory is constructed.

shared and contested in the digital age It also explores the role of arts based research and participatory practices in documenting and preserving collective memories offering insights into new forms of memory sharing and identity formation
