Arachnid Dichotomous Key

One kind of arachnid, the wind scorpion, is so named because it seems to run as fast as the wind. The sea spider, another arachnid, lives on the ocean floor. The trapdoor spider digs a hole in the ground, covers it with a silk trapdoor, camouflages the trapdoor with leaves, and waits for its prey to walk across the trapdoor. When its prey passes above, the spider feels the vibrations and opens the trapdoor to make the capture. These arachnids are only three examples of the thousands of different types of arachnids. Arachnids, as well as other organisms, are often identified by their physical traits. A dichotomous key, based on visible physical traits, can help you identify members of a group of related organisms. Dichotomous means branching into two parts. As you use a dichotomous key, you read pairs of descriptions and decide which description of each pair is true for the organism you are trying to identify.

Using a Dichotomous Key

1. Before you use the dichotomous key to identify the arachnids, review arachnid anatomy by studying the diagrams below. In all arachnids, the body is divided into two sections: the cephalothorax and the abdomen. Find the cephalothorax and the abdomen in each arachnid. Note how these body sections are joined. Observe whether the abdomen is segmented or lacks segments (example "h" is segmented). All arachnids have six pairs of appendages: one pair of jaws, 4 pairs of walking legs, and one pair of pedipalps.
2. Use the dichotomous key to identify each arachnid. Beginning with the first pair of statements, decide which statement is true for the arachnid. Proceed to the next pair of statements as directed by the key. When the key lists a name rather than a number, then you have identified the arachnid.
