Children's Creative Music-Making with Reflexive Interactive Technology Victoria Rowe, Angeliki Triantafyllaki, Francois Pachet, 2016-10-14 Children's Creative Music Making with Reflexive Interactive Technology discusses pioneering experiments conducted with young children using a new generation of music software for improvising and composing. Using artificial intelligence techniques, this software captures the children's musical style and interactively reflects it in its responses. The book describes the potential of these applications to enhance children's agency and musical identity by reflecting players' musical inputs, storing, and creating variations on them. Set in the broader context of current music education research, it addresses the benefits and challenges of incorporating music technologies in primary and pre-school education. It is comprised of six main chapters which cover the creation of children's own music, their musical selves, critical thinking skills, and learner agency, musical language development, and emotional intent during creative music making. The authors provide a range of straight-forward techniques and strategies which challenge conceptions of difficult-to-use music technologies in formal music education. These are supported by an informative collection of practitioner vignettes written by teachers who have used the software in their
