Gravity

(to the tune, "London Bridge is Falling Down")

Chorus:

Gravity is pulling down,
Pulling down, pulling down,
Gravity is pulling down
All around you!

Take a ball and toss it high.
Will it stay in the sky?
Gravity will pull it down
All around you.

Chorus:

Gravity is pulling down,
Pulling down, pulling down,
Gravity is pulling down
All around you!

Song About Force And Motion With Tune:

Musical Theatre Script and Song Analysis Through the Ages James Olm, 2021-12-16 How many times have you experienced a musical that was fabulous or just didn't work at all but you had no idea how to communicate why? How do you differentiate between a flaw in the performance/portrayal of a character to a structural flaw in the musical itself? How do you analyse musical theatre songs that are so subjective in its very nature? Is there even a common link of analysis between musicals from the Golden Age and musicals from the present day? Musical Theatre Script and Song Analysis Through the Ages answers these questions and gives students of musical theatre the tools they need to understand and articulate how musicals work. At the heart of any musical lie its music and lyrics yet it is this area that is least understood. This book offers a brand new terminology of analysis that gets to the core of what holds a musical together: the libretto, music and lyrics. Through identifying methods of lyric and musical analysis and applying these to ten different musicals throughout history, students are able to ask questions such as: why does this song sound this way? what is this lyric doing to identify character purpose and how is a character communicating this feeling to an audience? From classroom analysis through to practical application, this text guides readers through a structured approach to understanding, disseminating and more importantly articulating how a musical works. A perfect tool for students of musical theatre, its practical benefits of understanding the form and realizing that it can be applied to any age musical will benefit any theatre person in helping articulate all of those abstract feelings that are inherent in this art form. It offers a roadmap to the musical's innermost DNA.

Reverberating Song in Shakespeare and Milton Erin Minear, 2016-04-08 In this study, Erin Minear explores the fascination of Shakespeare and Milton with the ability of music heard, imagined or remembered to infiltrate language. Such infected language reproduces not so much the formal or sonic properties of music as its effects. Shakespeare's and Milton's understanding of these effects was determined, she argues, by history and culture as well as individual sensibility. They portray music as uncanny and divine, expressive and opaque, promoting associative rather than logical thought processes and unearthing unexpected memories. The title reflects the multiple and overlapping meanings of reverberation in the study: the lingering and infectious nature of musical sound; the questionable status of audible earthly music as an echo of celestial harmonies; and one writer's allusions to another. Minear argues that many of the qualities that seem to us characteristically Shakespearean stem from Shakespeare's engagement with how music works and that Milton was deeply influenced by this aspect of Shakespearean poetics. Analyzing Milton's account of Shakespeare's warbled notes, she demonstrates that he saw Shakespeare as a peculiarly musical poet, deeply and obscurely moving his audience with language that has ceased to mean but nonetheless lingers hauntingly in the mind. Obsessed with the relationship between words and music for reasons of his own, including his father's profession as a composer, Milton would adopt, adapt and finally reject Shakespeare's form of musical poetics in his own quest to join the angel choir. Offering a new way of looking at the work of two major authors, this study engages and challenges scholars of Smith, 2014-10-17 After Pearl Harbor Tin Pan Alley songwriters rushed to write the Great American War Song an Over There for World War II The most popular songs however continued to be romantic ballads escapist tunes or novelty songs To remedy the situation the federal government created the National Wartime Music Committee an advisory group of the Office of War Information OWI which outlined proper war songs along with tips on how and what to write The music business also formed its own Music War Committee to promote war songs Neither group succeeded The OWI hoped that Tin Pan Alley could be converted from manufacturing love songs to manufacturing war songs just as automobile plants had retooled to assemble planes and tanks But the OWI failed to comprehend the large extent by which the war effort would be defined by advertisers and merchandisers Selling merchandise was the first priority of Tin Pan Alley and the OWI never swayed them from this course Kathleen E R Smith concludes the government's fears of faltering morale did not materialize Americans did not need such war songs as Goodbye Mama I'm Off To Yokohama There Are No Wings On a Foxhole or even The Sun Will Soon Be Setting On The Land Of The Rising Sun to convince them to support the war The crusade for a proper war song was misguided from the beginning and the music business then and now continues to make huge profits selling love not war songs Modern Music, 1943 Modern Music and Musicians: The pianist's guide.
