providers Protex intelligent enzymes and IPSCON receivers for wireless telephones New Business for Old Europe brings together the key outputs from all of these groups to present a state of the art collection on product service development prospects and implications for competitiveness and sustainability The book has a number of aims First it attempts to bridge the gap between business and sustainability literature to lead to a better founded understanding of the business drivers for embarking on product service development and its relation with sustainability and competitiveness Second the book reviews the large amount of studies that have developed toolkits methods and approaches that can support marketers product developers and strategists in business to develop product services selects the best practice approaches and analyses any gaps Third the book examines what opportunities there are for product service development in a variety of key areas including base materials information and communication technologies offices food and households Each chapter in this section discusses the area developments that will stimulate or hinder the market opportunities for product services product service examples and typical implementation challenges for product services in that area These chapters serve as a quick introduction for companies interested in developing product services in a specific area Fourth the book translates all the lessons into suggested approaches for product service development by companies Annexes include a lightweight product service development manual and an alphabetical list of useful underlying tools
