Abstract This paper presents a novel approach to the problem of finding the optimal policy for a Markov Decision Process (MDP) with a large number of states. The proposed method is based on the use of a neural network to approximate the value function of the MDP. The neural network is trained using a set of samples generated by a Monte Carlo simulation. The results of the experiments show that the proposed method is able to find the optimal policy for the MDP with a high degree of accuracy and efficiency.
