24% of first time graduate school enrollments were members of minoritized populations while attrition rates continue to signal a blocked pathway to doctoral degree and assistant professorship attainment How We Got Here The Role of Critical Mentoring and Social Justice Praxis Essays in Honor of George W Noblit is a collective effort of scholars of education to deploy critical mentoring and social justice praxis to disrupt this pattern of institutional failure Critical mentoring rejects meritocratic discourses that deny the politicized racialized gendered and ableist spaces of higher education Social justice praxis centers the knowledge and struggle of doctoral students with multiple intersectional identities as interdisciplinary bodies of praxis These positionings speak back to institutional isms with the aim of broadening the participation of folk conventionally held in the margins of academia This volume is presented as a definitive collection that holistically honors nearly 40 years of critical mentoring and social justice praxis with George W Noblit which each contributor has carried into their own work Contributors are Silvia Cristina Bettez Heather Bower Ashley S Boyd Mary Kay Delaney Josh Diem Deborah Eaker Rich Courtney George Beth Hatt Sherick Hughes Rhonda Jeffries Michael E Jennings Alison LaGarry Monica McKinney Jason Mendez Hillary Parkhouse Summer Melody Pennell Marta Sanch z M Billye Sankofa Waters Amy Senta Amy Swain and Luis Urrieta Jr Sustainability on University Campuses: Learning, Skills Building and Best Practices Walter Leal Filho,Ugo

Bardi,2019-06-03 The implementation of sustainability initiatives on campuses is an essential component of promoting sustainability in the higher education context In addition to reflecting an awareness of environmental issues campus programmes demonstrate how seriously universities take sustainability at the institutional level There is a lack of truly interdisciplinary publications that comprehensively address the issue of campus greening and there is an even greater need for publications that do so at a truly international level This book meets these needs It is one of the outcomes of the Second Symposium on Sustainability in University Campuses SSUC 2018 which was jointly organised by the University of Florence Italy Manchester Metropolitan University UK the Research and Transfer Centre Sustainable Development and Climate Change Management and the European School of Sustainability Science and Research at the Hamburg University of Applied Sciences Germany in cooperation with the Inter University Sustainable Development Research Programme IUSDRP The book showcases examples of campus based research and teaching projects regenerative campus design low carbon and zero

carbon buildings waste prevention and resilient transport among others Ultimately it demonstrates the role of campuses as platforms for transformative social learning and research and explores the means by which university campuses can be made more sustainable The aims of this publication are as follows to provide universities with essential information on campus greening and sustainable campus development initiatives from around the world to share ideas and lessons learned in the course of research teaching and projects on campus greening and design especially successful initiatives and good practice and to introduce methodological approaches and projects intended to integrate the topic of sustainable development in campus design and operations This book gathers contributions from researchers and practitioners in the field of campus greening and sustainable development in the widest sense from business and economics to the arts administration and the environment and hailing from Europe Latin America North America and Asia

Bending the Rules Rachel Augustine Potter, 2019-06-15 Who determines the fuel standards for our cars What about whether Plan B the morning after pill is sold at the local pharmacy Many people assume such important and controversial policy decisions originate in the halls of Congress But the choreographed actions of Congress and the president account for only a small portion of the laws created in the United States By some estimates more than ninety percent of law is created by administrative rules issued by federal agencies like the Environmental Protection Agency and the Department of Health and Human Services where unelected bureaucrats with particular policy goals and preferences respond to the incentives created by a complex procedure bound rulemaking process With Bending the Rules Rachel Augustine Potter shows that rulemaking is not the rote administrative activity it is commonly imagined to be but rather an intensely political activity in its own right Because rulemaking occurs in a separation of powers system bureaucrats are not free to implement their preferred policies unimpeded the president Congress and the courts can all get involved in the process often at the bidding of affected interest groups However rather than capitulating to demands bureaucrats routinely employ procedural politicking using their deep knowledge of the process to strategically insulate their proposals from political scrutiny and interference Tracing the rulemaking process from when an agency first begins working on a rule to when it completes that regulatory action Potter shows how bureaucrats use procedures to resist interference from Congress the President and the courts at each stage of the process This exercise reveals that unelected bureaucrats wield considerable influence over the direction of public policy in the United States

Doing Race in Social Studies Prentice T. Chandler, 2015-07-01 Race and racism are a foundational part of the global and American experience With this idea in mind our social studies classes should reflect this reality Social studies educators often have difficulties teaching about race within the context of their classrooms due to a variety of institutional and personal factors Doing Race in Social Studies Critical Perspectives provides teachers at all levels with research in social studies and critical race theory CRT and specific content ideas for how to teach about race within their social studies classes The chapters in this book serve to fill the gap between the theoretical and the practical as well as help teachers come to a better understanding of how teaching social studies from a CRT perspective can be enacted The chapters included in this volume are written by prominent scholars in the field of social studies and CRT They represent an original melding of CRT concepts with considerations of enacted social studies pedagogy This volume addresses a void in the social studies conversation about race how to think and teach about race within the social science disciplines that comprise the social studies Given the original nature of this work Doing Race in Social Studies Critical Perspectives is a much needed addition to the conversation about race and social studies education Federal Register ,2012-11 Critical Perspectives on Counter-terrorism Lee Jarvis,Michael Lister,2014-12-17 This volume examines the rationale effectiveness and consequences of counter terrorism practices from a range of perspectives and cases The book critically interrogates contemporary counter terrorism powers from military campaigns and repression through to the prosecution of terrorist suspects counter terrorism policing counter radicalisation programmes and the proscription of terrorist organisations Drawing on a range of timely and important case studies from around the world including the UK Sri Lanka Spain Canada Australia and the USA its chapters explore the impacts of counter terrorism on individuals communities and political processes The book focuses on three questions of vital importance to any assessment of counter terrorism First what do counter terrorism strategies seek to achieve Second what are the consequences of different counter terrorism campaigns and how are these measured And third how and why do changes to counter terrorism occur This volume will be of much interest to students of counter terrorism critical terrorism studies criminology security studies and IR in general Critical Race Theory in the Academy Vernon Lee Farmer,Evelyn Shepherd W. Farmer,2020-09-01 Critical Race Theory in the Academy explores the deep implications of race and its effects on the expanse of the American social fabric and its fragile democratic process This volume contributes to a more effective powerful and insightful theorization of racism across the social spectrum while furthering the movement for greater equity in higher education and beyond The audience for this book is broad and should be of great interest and value to all Americans who fight against racism which is focused on the destruction of Black people and other people of color Ideally educators scholars and practitioners will be compelled to engage the ideas within this volume to break down the color line and challenge the problematic master narrative in education and other aspects of society Critical Race Theory in the Academy offers current applications debates theories strategies and evolutions about critical race theory CRT with particular attention to CRT s intersections with the field of higher education and beyond As a part of the CRT corpus this volume details some of the most relevant and current topics deployed in varied disciplines of the academy confronting the complex interplay of race racism education and social justice in the twenty first century Specifically the authors explore topics from health disparities politics religion literature music social work psychology sports distance learning media bias affirmative action to education policies practices and scholarship The chapters in this volume should help navigate the tensions in the academy and beyond to work toward alleviating institutionalized racism Praise for Critical Race Theory in the Academy The field of

Critical Race Theory is enriched by this important collection of new and original scholarship Vernon Farmer has brought together a dynamic and eclectic mix of radical voices from multiple disciplinary backgrounds including both established and early career scholars The result is a volume that constantly challenges and surprises the reader David Gillborn Professor of Critical Race Studies University of Birmingham UK Founding Editor of Race Ethnicity Education Critical Race Theory in the Academy has excavated the terrain of critical race theory to unearth multiple perspectives that are central to defining the fundamental contours of the field Each essay enhances the ways in which we read and understand the complexity of critical race theory It will be an invaluable resource for building a critical academy Aileen Moreton Robinson Queens and University of Technology Australia Author of The White Possessive Property Power and Indigenous Sovereignty Vernon Lee Farmer has done it again and for the final time He has pulled together a star studded cast of academics of color to address an essential concern of the academy Throughout his career Farmer has demonstrated the uncanny ability to identify matters that require attention and attacked them with vigor In doing so he provided us with high impact resources that are beneficial to the professional trajectory of scholars of color This book is no different and we all should race to the bookstore to add this instant classic to our personal library Jerlando F L Jackson Vilas Distinguished Professor of Higher Education University of Wisconsin Madison Former Editor ASHE Reader Series on Higher Education Critical Race Theory in the Academy adds substantially to our understanding of the roles that race racism and social justice play as we tackle the myriad problems of pre K through higher education For those interested in gaining a deeper understanding of the issues in higher education from curriculum to the lack of diversity in the professoriate this work provides helpful insights that can enrich conversations and problem solving across sectors of society Freeman A Hrabowski III President University of Maryland Baltimore County Baltimore Maryland

Critical Studies and the International Field of Indigenous Education Research Greg Vass, Melitta

Hogarth, 2024-02-15 This book focuses on three broad and intertwined concerns in Indigenous education across several settler colonial settings such as Australia New Zealand and Canada Within these settler colonial contexts many Indigenous learners continue to be failed by education policies and practices while teaching and learning all too often concomitantly reproduce and maintain deficit perspectives and expectations from those in the wider community towards Indigenous Peoples The contributions presented in this book seek to interrupt this cycle in some way and share three broad and intertwined areas of focus Holistic and more than human view of the world and knowledge making practices Critical engagement with the ongoing legacies of colonial institutions practices and histories And efforts that seek to reveal and address social injustices inequities and discrimination The book highlights the work of scholars who are actively working to privilege Indigenous ways of working and or recognising the resilience of Indigenous peoples in all aspects of education Critical Studies and the International Field of Indigenous Education Research offers inspiration hope and practices to learn from and with In doing so a wider community of researchers and professionals can draw on the ideas and strategies to help inform their efforts within the settings they work and live This book was originally published as a special issue of Critical Studies in Education People and Institutions in the Roman Empire, 2020-10-12 In People and Institutions in the Roman Empire colleagues honor Garrett Fagan for his contributions to our understanding and appreciation of Roman history and culture In addition to reviewing and contextualizing Fagan's works and legacy contributing authors pursue in their chapters topics and methodologies that interested Fagan the experiences of individuals within Roman state and social institutions from the end of the Republic through the Empire and into Late Antiquity Part One contextualizes Fagan's scholarship demonstrating the diversity of his interests and his impact Part Two considers the intersection between people and core state institutions army law and religion Part Three examines Roman social and cultural institutions such as the baths arena historiography and provincial elite society Evaluating Outbreak Potential of Infections in Tropical Climates Fingani Annie Mphande, Peter Suwirakwenda Nyasulu, 2025-12-02 This book is a unique compilation that considers tropical diseases including neglected emerging and re-emerging diseases in the broader context of public health in society in low and middle income countries The book conducts a post COVID 19 review on various public health issues in these settings including mental health in people living with HIV to diagnostics and disease prevention in resource limited settings Following the onslaught of SARS CoV2 on the human race and the significant healthcare challenges faced in low and middle income countries the pandemic brought to light the value of understanding infectious diseases that have great potential to degenerate into pandemics and cause significant morbidity and mortality The authors advocate that a focused effective response and approach is essential moving forward This includes but is not limited to clinical as well as public health intervention vaccine development and confronting the challenges of vaccine delivery in the contexts of differential social and cultural paradigms and beliefs This book provides pathways for future responses to such similar infectious diseases pandemics Topics include connections between migration and Ebola a highly infectious outbreak prone disease with devastating consequences the multifaceted impacts of rabies a neglected tropical disease affecting populations especially in low resource settings as well as cholera an outbreak prone disease affecting populations in humanitarian settings and low income countries Connecting public health medical practice and policy mental health and society this book is relevant to practitioners and scholars working in public health arenas and in areas of migration development studies and mental health

Positive Approaches to Optimal Relationship Development C. Raymond Knee, Harry T. Reis, 2016-04-08 How can we get the most out of our close relationships Research in the area of personal relationships continues to grow but most prior work has emphasized how to overcome negative aspects This volume demonstrates that a good relationship is more than simply the absence of a bad relationship and that establishing and maintaining optimal relationships entails enacting a set of processes that are distinct from merely avoiding negative or harmful behaviors Drawing on recent relationship science to explore issues such as intimacy attachment passion sacrifice and compassionate goals the essays in this volume emphasize the positive features that allow relationships to flourish In doing so they integrate several theoretical perspectives concepts and mechanisms that produce optimal relationships The volume also includes a section on intensive and abbreviated interventions that have been empirically validated to be effective in promoting the positive features of close relationships

Mediterranean Foods Rui M. S. da Cruz, Maria M. C. Vieira, 2017-02-17 The Mediterranean region is well known around the world for its rich culinary history While most books tend to only focus on the nutritional culinary and or health aspects of Mediterranean cuisine this book presents a more scientific approach and discusses the composition of specific foods from the Mediterranean basin as well as specific processing methodologies applied to produce food in this area of the world

Dyes and Pigments Ahmet Gürses, Metin Açıkyıldız, Kübra Güneş, M. Sadi Gürses, 2016-05-04 In this book the authors go back to basics to describe the structural differences between dyes and pigments their mechanisms of action properties and applications They set the scene by explaining the reasons behind these differences and show how dyes are predominately organic compounds that dissolve or react with substrates whereas pigments are predominantly finely ground inorganic substances that are insoluble and therefore have a different mode of coloring They also describe the role of functional groups and their effect on dyeing ability contrasting this with the way in which pigments cause surface reflection or light absorption depending on their chemical and crystalline structure and relative particle size The book explores the environmental impact of dyes in a section that covers the physical chemical toxicological and ecological properties of dyes and how these are used to assess their effect on the environment and to estimate whether a given product presents a potential hazard Lastly it assesses how in addition to their traditional uses in the textile leather paper paint and varnish industries dyes and pigments are indispensable in other fields such as microelectronics medical diagnostics and in information recording techniques

Material Approaches to Roman Magic Adam Parker, Stuart McKie, 2018-04-30 This second volume in the new TRAC Themes in Roman Archaeology series seeks to push the research agendas of materiality and lived experience further into the study of Roman magic a field that has until recently lacked object focused analysis Building on the pioneering studies in Boschung and Bremmer's 2015 Materiality of Magic the editors of the present volume have collected contributions that showcase the value of richly detailed context specific explorations of the magical practices of the Roman world By concentrating primarily on the Imperial period and the western provinces the various contributions demonstrate very clearly the exceptional range of influences and possibilities open to individuals who sought to use magical rituals to affect their lives in these specific contexts something that would have been largely impossible in earlier periods of antiquity Contributions are presented from a range of museum professionals commercial archaeologists university academics and postgraduate students making a compelling case for strengthening lines of communication between these related areas of expertise
