The Destruction Of Da Derga S Hostel:

The Destruction of Da Derga's Hostel Ralph O'Connor, 2013-02-28 Irish saga literature represents the largest collection of vernacular narrative in existence from the early Middle Ages using the tools of Christian literacy to retell myths and legends about the pagan past This unique corpus remains marginal to standard histories of Western literature its tales are widely read but their literary artistry remains a puzzle to many even within Celtic studies This book the first to offer a systematic literary analysis of any single native Irish tale aims to show how one particularly celebrated saga works as a story the Middle Irish tale Togail Bruidne Da Derga The Destruction of Da Derga s Hostel which James Carney called the finest saga of the early period This epic tale tells how the legendary king Conaire was raised by a shadowy Otherworld to the kingship of Tara and after a fatal error of judgement was hounded by spectres to an untimely death at Da Derga s Hostel at the hands of his own foster brothers By turns lyrical and laconic and rich in native mythological imagery the story is told with a dramatic intensity worthy of Greek tragedy and the intricate symmetry of its narrative procedure recalls the visual patterning of illuminated manuscripts such as The Book of Kells This book invites the reader to enjoy and understand this literary masterpiece explaining its narrative artistry within its native classical and biblical literary contexts Against a historical backdrop of shifting ideologies of Christian kingship it interprets the saga s possible significance for contemporary audiences as a questioning exploration of the challenges and paradoxes of kingship The Irish Ulysses Maria Tymoczko, 2023-04-28 This title is part of UC Press s Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press s mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1994 The Destruction of Da Derga's Hostel Whitley Stokes, 2004-06-01 So in this wise Conaire fared forth and on each of the four roads whereby men go to Tara there were three kings awaiting him and they had raiment for him since it had been foretold that he would come stark naked Then he was seen from the road on which his fosterers were and they put royal raiment about him and placed him in a chariot and he bound his pledges The Destruction of Da Derga's Hostel Whitley Stokes, 2015-01-06 Whitley Stokes 28 February 1830 13 April 1909 was an Irish lawyer and Celtic scholar Stokes studied Irish Breton and Cornish texts as materials for comparative philology learning Old Irish and Middle Irish In the hundred years since his death he has continued to be a central figure in Celtic scholarship Many of his editions have not been superseded in that time and his total output in Celtic studies comes to over 15 000 pages The Destruction of Da Derga s Hostel is an Irish tale belonging to the Ulster Cycle of Irish mythology It recounts the birth life and death of Conaire M r son of Etersc l M r a legendary High King of Ireland who is killed at Da Derga s hostel by his enemies when he breaks his geasa It is considered one of the finest Irish sagas of the early period comparable to the better known T in B C ailnge The theme of gathering doom as the king is forced through circumstances to break one after another of his taboos is non Christian in essence and no Christian interpretations are laid upon the marvels that it relates In its repetitions and verbal formulas the poem retains the qualities of oral transmission The tone of the work has been compared with Greek tragedy

Selected Writings of John V. Kelleher on Ireland a , A collection of eighteen critical essays and twenty six translations spanning the career of one of the founding intellects of Irish Studies the Selected Writings of John V Kelleher on Ireland and Irish America consists of five accessible sections The first gathers Kelleher's essays on the most widely known Irish cultural phenomenon the literary renaissance of the early twentieth century Part two contains his judicious assessments of Irish literature in its post Revolutionary phase The third section includes Kelleher's insightful essays on the experience of the Irish in America The fourth section contains essays that examine early Irish literature and culture opening with a benchmark essay for Irish Studies Early Irish History and Pseudo History which was read at the inaugural meeting of the American Conference for Irish Studies in 1961 The collection concludes with Kelleher's translations and adaptations of poems in Old Middle and Modern Irish illustrating his command of the language at every stage

Memory and Remembering in Early Irish Literature Sarah Künzler,2023-12-04 Ireland possesses an early and exceptionally rich medieval vernacular tradition in which memory plays a key role What attitudes to remembering and forgetting are expressed in secular early Irish texts How do the texts conceptualise the past and what does this conceptualisation tell us about the present and future Who mediates and validates different versions of the past and how is future remembrance guaranteed This study approaches such questions through close readings of individual texts It centres on three major aspects of medieval Irish memory culture places and landscapes the provision of information about the past by miraculously old eye witnesses and the personal social and cultural impact of forgetting The discussions shed light on the relationship between memory and forgetting and explore the connections between the past present and future This shows the fascinating spatio temporal identity constructions in medieval Ireland and links the Irish texts to the broader European world The monograph makes this rich literary sources available to an interdisciplinary audience and is of interest to both a general medievalist audience and those working in Cultural Memory Studies
