Curing Madness? Shilpi Rajpal,2020-11-30 Curing Madness focusses on the institutional and non institutional histories of madness in colonial north India It proves that madness and its cure are shifting categories which assumed new meanings and significance as knowledge travelled across cultural medical national and regional boundaries The book examines governmental policies legal processes diagnosis and treatment and individual case histories by looking closely at asylums in Agra Benaras Bareilly Lucknow Delhi and Lahore Rajpal highlights that only a few mentally ill ended up in asylums most people suffering from insanity were cared for by their families and local vaidyas ojhas and pundits These practitioners of traditional medicine had to reinvent themselves to retain their relevance as Western medical knowledge was widely disseminated in colonial India Evidence of this is found in the Hindi medical advice literature of the era Taking these into account Shilpi Rajpal moves beyond asylum centric histories to examine extensive archival materials gathered from various repositories National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.),1982 Perspectives on Assessment and Evaluation in International Schools Jeff Thompson,Mary Hayden,2018-07-30 Assessment and evaluation are two concepts at the core of schooling which are also central to other forms of education worldwide In an international context assessment and evaluation data are increasingly widely used for accountability and quality assurance purposes at individual student institutional national and global levels This book does not attempt to include consideration of all the issues that could possibly be covered in a title that addresses assessment and evaluation in education internationally Nor has it set out to cover the myriad technical issues with which assessment and evaluation are inevitably concerned Rather a number of authors working within different contexts of international education whether as teachers or leaders in international schools administrators in international examination bodies or researchers in international educational research organisations have been invited to share ideas arising from their own experiences of what might be interpreted as assessment or evaluation be that assessment of student achievement evaluation of teacher effectiveness or evaluation of school quality The international dimension presents a range of challenges to those with responsibility for implementing assessment and evaluation strategies in widely diverse linguistic cultural social and personal contexts and in this book valuable contributions are shared by colleagues who are authorities in the field It is their personal views on assessment and evaluation derived from professional practice in the international sphere that have been brought together here Autocar & Motor ,1988-09
