Questions in Physics, Cosmology, Philosophy, and Theoretical Biology Alwyn Van der Merwe, 2012-12-06 Simply to say that this is a collection of essays in honor of the late Wolfgang Yourgrau 1908 1979 is to explain at least for the obviously many insiders the unusually wide ranging title of the present volume In a Foreword to the Proceedings of the First International Colloquium focusing on logic physical reality and history held at the University of Denver in May of 1966 under their leadership Wolfgang Yourgrau and Allen Breck wrote in an oblique reference to C P Snow Indeed there are not two or three or four cultures there is only one culture our generation has lost its awareness of this Historians logicians physicists all are banded in one common enterprise namely in their desire to weave an enlightened fabric of human knowledge Augment if you will the foregoing categories of scholars with biologists philosophers cosmologists and theologians all of whom in addition to historians Wolfgang Yourgrau by dint of his inextinguishable enthusiasm and charismatic qualities assembled in Denver for the Second and Third International Colloquia in 1967 and 1974 respectively and a few other besides and one arrives at a statement of the credo which Yourgrau not only professed but consistently exemplified throughout his adult life

Research Progress Ferenc N. Balogh, 2008 String theory is a model of fundamental physics whose building blocks are one dimensional extended objects called strings rather than the zero dimensional point particles that form the basis for the standard model of particle physics The phrase is often used as shorthand for Superstring theory as well as related theories such as M theory By replacing the point like particles with strings an apparently consistent quantum theory of gravity emerges Moreover it may be possible to unify the known natural forces gravitational electromagnetic weak nuclear and strong nuclear by describing them with the same set of equations Studies of string theory have revealed that it predicts higher dimensional objects called branes String theory strongly suggests the existence of ten or eleven in M theory space time dimensions as opposed to the usual four three spatial and one temporal used in relativity theory Collected Works

(volume 1): Published Papers Stephen Luttrell, 2023-10-24 The motivation for the research that is described in these volumes is the wish to explain things in terms of their underlying causes rather than merely being satisfied with phenomenological descriptions When this reductionist approach is applied to information processing it allows the internal structure of information to be analysed so information processing algorithms can then be derived from first principles One of the simplest examples of this approach is the diagonalisation of a data covariance matrix there are many variants of this basic approach such as singular value decomposition in which the assumed independent components of high dimensional data are identified and extracted The main limitation of this type of information analysis approach is that it is based on linear algebra applied globally to the data space so it is unable to preserve information about any local data structure in the data space For instance if the data lives on a low dimensional curved manifold embedded in the data space then only the global properties of this manifold would be preserved by global linear algebra methods In practice data whose high dimensional structure is non trivial typically lives on a noisy version of a curved manifold so techniques for analysing such data must automatically handle this type of structure For instance a blurred image of a point source is described by its underlying degrees of freedom i e the position of the source and as the source moves about it generates a curved manifold that lives in the high dimensional space of pixel values of the sampled image The basic problem is then to deduce the internal properties of this manifold by analysing examples of such images A more challenging problem would be to extend this analysis to images that contain several overlapping blurred images of point sources and so on There is no limit to the complexity of the types of high dimensional data that one might want to analyse These methods then need to be automated so that they do not rely on human intervention which would then allow them to be inserted as components into information processing networks The purpose of the research that is described in these volumes is to develop principled information processing methods that can be used for such analysis Self organising information processing networks arise naturally in this context in which ways of cutting up the original manifold into simpler pieces emerge automatically
