in the current literature by tracing the rural transformation process and the development of rural tourism functions in Poland over the last 30 years. It examines the socioeconomic transformation between 1989 and 2019 that resulted in the formation and development of Polish rural tourism and the various practices associated with it. This timely topic is addressed in a central and eastern European context and sparks interest in further in-depth analysis due to the diversity and magnitude of the transformation processes undertaken by the Polish rural areas. Since Polish rural areas constitute as much as 30% of the total rural areas in all new European Union member states, this book adds value through an in-depth statistical analysis of the pace of socioeconomic changes in Polish rural areas. It delves into the creation and consumption of tourism services locally as well as the impact of global trends on the development of rural tourism in Poland. This book will be of interest to economists, sociologists, political scientists, and postgraduate students across eastern and central Europe who deal with rural tourism issues.

Tourism Destination Evolution Patrick Brouder, Salvador Anton Clavé, Alison Gill, Dimitri Ioannides, 2016-07-15

Outlining the need for fresh perspectives on change in tourism, this book offers a theoretical overview and empirical examples of the potential synergies of applying evolutionary economic geography (EEG) concepts in tourism research. EEG has proven to be a powerful explanatory paradigm in other sectors, and tourism studies has a track record of embracing, adapting, and enhancing frameworks from cognate fields. EEG approaches to tourism studies complement and further develop studies of established themes such as path dependence and the Tourism Area Life Cycle. The individual chapters draw from a broad geographical framework and address distinct conceptual elements of EEG using a diverse set of tourism case studies from Europe, North America, and Australia. Developing the theoretical cohesion of tourism and EEG, this volume also gives non-specialist tourism scholars a window into the possibilities of using these concepts in their own research. Given the timing of this publication, it has great potential value to the wider tourism community in advancing theory and leading to more effective empirical research.

Management, Tourism and Smart Technologies Carlos Montenegro, Álvaro Rocha, Juan Manuel Cueva Lovelle, 2024-01-03. This book presents advances in the research of various entities in the world which are working on the application of technology or management in tourism.
