General Agreement on Trade in Services United States International Trade Commission,1995 Tourism Research in China Songshan Huang,Ganghua Chen,2016 This book provides critical in depth reviews on key themes and issues in tourism research in China These themes include Chinese scholars epistemological views of tourism rural tourism development community participation in tourism tourist market and behaviour tourist attraction management and tour guiding and interpretation in China While Chinese scholars are often able to access key research in both English and Chinese

the majority of researchers from outside China without knowledge of the Chinese language are unable to read original research from China This book seeks to redress this knowledge imbalance and bring key Chinese tourism research to the international tourism academic community This book will be a valuable reference for tourism researchers postgraduate students and industry professionals

Liminality in Tourism Robert S. Bristow, Ian Jenkins, 2021-09-05 Liminality is not typically associated with tourism even though it can be viewed as an intrinsic element of the social cultural experiences of tourism Liminality in Tourism Spatial and Temporal Considerations aims to build upon the tradition of liminality as expounded in social and anthropological disciplines elaborating on the theoretical principles and concepts found within certain aspects of the tourist journey and tourist product The emergence of post modern society has impelled a change in the tourist gaze towards a more experiential and adventuresome globalised experience An important aspect of the tourist phenomenon of liminality is where a transformative experience is triggered by entering a liminoid tourist space leaving the tourist permanently psychologically transformed before returning to normalised society The narrative provides a new perspective on the tourist experience with a provocative examination into the multidimensional aspects of tourism by exploring tourism within the spatial and temporal aspects of liminal landscapes Covid 19 has further changed the rubric of tourism Until the current pandemic tourism has basically been a fun experience In a post pandemic world however the tourist is now facing an unknown future which will almost certainly affect tourism liminality This book presents the reader with a wealth of examples and case studies closely illustrating the association between tourism and liminal experiences The geographical perspectives explore the more subconscious outcomes of destination and tourist product consumption The book should be a useful reader to tourism geography where the theory of liminality can be synthesized into tourist experiences The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the journal Tourism Geographies

Sustainable Tourism IV C. A. Brebbia, F. D. Pineda, 2010 Tourism has become a major international industry with many countries all over the world relying on the income it produces Because it is a major source of finances and employment government and other institutions actively promote tourism regardless of the impact on the environment ecology and social structure of the region The demands of tourism can contribute to the destruction of the natural and cultural environment upon which it depends The natural and cultural landscape's capacity to accommodate the local and worldwide effects of tourism the typology thereof and its implications for the economy and society constitute very important study objectives The development of tourism can result in the degradation of natural landscapes that paradoxically attract tourists to such areas Featured topics include Tourism Strategies Tourism as a Tool of Development Tourism Impact Tourism and Protected Areas
