

SECTION 3 - Transmission

Section 3

Installing a Cartridge Bottom Bracket

1

Put the bike on a work stand and remove the crankset on your Specialized Tarmac (see Section 3.2).

- Use a pair of callipers to measure the length of the old axle before you remove the bottom bracket, so that you can be sure the replacement has an axle of the same length. You need to do this because different cranksets are designed to work with different axle lengths.

3

Remove both the crankset (see Section 3.2), insert a bottom-bracket remover into the non-drive side of the bracket and turn the remover anticlockwise with a spanner.

- Repeat on the other side, turning clockwise. Turn it anticlockwise if your bike has an Italian threaded bottom bracket (marked 36 x 1).

2

Measure the width of the bottom-bracket shell with a ruler. The shell forms part of the bike's frame and will be either 68mm (2 3/4in) or 73mm (3in) wide. This width determines the width of the bracket unit you need to buy.

4

Grease the threads of each side of the new bottom bracket for easier fitting. The non-drive threads are sometimes referred to as the free-cup and the drive-side threads are known as the fixed cup. Do not grease the drive side of a bottom bracket with Italian threads.
