Report of the Examinations Conducted by the Council of Higher Education, Newfoundland Newfoundland.

Council of Higher Education, 1912 Research in Education , 1971 Resources in Education , 1998 Producing Good Citizens Amy J. Wan, 2014-03-30 Recent global security threats economic instability and political uncertainty have placed great scrutiny on the requirements for U S citizenship The stipulation of literacy has long been one of these criteria In Producing Good Citizens Amy J Wan examines the historic roots of this phenomenon looking specifically to the period just before World War I up until the Great Depression During this time the United States witnessed a similar anxiety over the influx of immigrants economic uncertainty and global political tensions Early on educators bore the brunt of literacy training while also being charged with producing the right kind of citizens by imparting civic responsibility and a moral code for the workplace and society Literacy quickly became the credential to gain legal economic and cultural status In her study Wan defines three distinct pedagogical spaces for literacy training during the 1910s and 1920s Americanization and citizenship programs sponsored by the federal government union sponsored programs and first year university writing programs Wan also demonstrates how each literacy program had its own motivation the federal government desired productive citizens unions needed educated members to fight for labor reform and university educators looked to aid social mobility Citing numerous literacy theorists Wan analyzes the correlation of reading and writing skills to larger currents within American society She shows how early literacy training coincided with the demand for laborers during the rise of mass manufacturing while also providing an avenue to economic opportunity for immigrants This fostered a rhetorical link between citizenship productivity and patriotism Wan supplements her analysis with an examination of citizen training books labor newspapers factory manuals policy documents public deliberations on citizenship and literacy and other materials from the period to reveal the goal and rationale behind each program Wan relates the enduring bond of literacy and citizenship to current times by demonstrating the use of literacy to mitigate economic inequality and its lasting value to a productivity based society Today as in the past educators continue to serve as an integral part of the literacy training and citizen making process

Nicholas Murray Butler, Frank Pierrepont Graves, 1907 Vols 19 34 include Bibliography of education for 1899 1906 compiled by James I Wyer and others Universities as Political Institutions Leasa Weimer, Terhi Nokkala, 2020-04-06 Universities can be viewed and studied as political institutions especially considering that they sit at the crossroads of social cultural and economic pressures The internal and external environment of higher education brings with it multiple and complex relationships as well as power struggles Within these contested political spaces there are phenomena to be studied While the field of higher education draws from a multitude of disciplines some scholars argue that only recently has scholarship focused on the political perspectives of higher education To better understand the politics and policies of higher education

Universities as Political Institutions illuminates a variety of ways that researchers view and study universities as a political institution from considering the national and international political pressures shaping higher education to the analysis of responses and political action from within the ivory tower The 2017 annual CHER conference in Jyvskyl Finland brought together 213 scholars from 30 countries This book includes a selection of papers and keynote presentations from this conference The thematic approach of the book reflects the 2017 conference theme Universities as Political Institutions Higher Education Institutions in the Middle of Academic Economic and Social Pressures The theme focused on multiple and often complex relations and relationships internal and external to higher education institutions In this context political refers not only to definitions uses and users of power but more broadly to a variety of relationships among different actors and agencies responsible for making executing or resisting decisions concerning higher education institutions
