

Ernest Hemingway's Life Story

Author, writer, reporter, and producer, Ernest Hemingway was born on July 6, 1899, in New York City. One of the most popular authors alive at all times, Hemingway is best known for portraying his heroic characters in the big games – most notably fishing and hunting the women who inspire them.

Hemingway had a difficult childhood. Both his first and younger brother Frank were extremely affected by their parents' troubled relationship, which later resulted in divorce. When Hemingway was around five years old, his father moved the family to the Washington, D.C., area. Hemingway lived in Maryland for years, staying with his father after his parents' divorce in 1907. He was troubled, he struggled emotionally and academically.

A few years later, Hemingway went to live with his mother and her second husband in Philadelphia. There, he attended a private high school for troubled youth. After graduation, Hemingway eventually went on to college. First, he attended the American College in Baltimore, where he studied drama. Hemingway then went to the University of Miami, again choosing to focus on the dramatic arts. He left without having completed his degree to move to New York City to pursue an acting career.

Back to the day: Hemingway was a struggling actor in every definition. He never wrote. He got no better than he made his father, parents, and wife. Things got so bad that he even ended up homeless. Unable to pay rent or afford food, and hungry, the troubled youth came when he did not have money to feed his dog, arguments, or the wife in all this only. "I walked away crying," he once said in an interview.

Two weeks later, he was a living, breathing Hemingway. He and Claude Rains – and their mother gave him the inspiration to write the script for the famous movie, WILDHEART. He wrote the script for 10 hours the next to sell it and got an offer for $100,000 for the screenplay. He had just one request: He wanted to be the main actor in the movie, but the studio wanted a real star.

Today, the name Hemingway, who slept in the streets and sold his dog and homeless he could not even feed his arguments, is one of the greatest movie stars who ever walked the Earth, and this was possible because he never gave up.
